PLAN OF LEAGUE TO CURB FORCES GIVEN APPROVAL

Geneva Conference Has Three Point Program to Settle Sino-Jap Dispute.

INSTRUCTIONS AWAITED

Japanese and Chinese Delegates First Must Hear from Their Governments.

BY P. I. LIPSEY, JR. Associated Press Staff Correspondent Geneva, March 11.—(P)—The league of nations assembly approved a three-point plan for settlement of the Sino-Japanese controversy today but delayed formal adoption pending receipt by the Japanese and Chinese delegates of instructions from their governments.

The plan adopted today was decided upon last night by the league's drafting commission, and presented in the form of three resolutions.

Program Is Outlined The resolutions declare that agreements reached by military pressure will not be recognized, they accept China's thesis that the assembly is competent to deal with the entire Far Eastern question, and they set up machinery in the assembly to pursue the effort to bring about evacuation of Japanese forces.

The last paragraph of the first of the three resolutions, which provides for the evacuation of Japanese forces, is the subject of the dispute. The league will not recognize any situation, treaty or agreement which may be brought about by means contrary to the covenant of the league, was amended on motion of Sir John Simon, British foreign minister, to include the Kellogg-Briand pact as well as the league covenant.

Await Instructions The assembly adjourned at noon until 5 p. m., hoping that Nogiaki Sato, Japanese foreign minister, and Chinese spokesmen, would have their instructions by that time. The assembly planned to recess until next Monday if it is found impossible to end the discussions tonight, for many of the delegates had arranged to go to Paris to attend the funeral of Aristide Briand. The resolutions as adopted were: 1.—The assembly considers the league covenant and the Briand-Kellogg pact applicable to the Sino-Japanese conflict and would not recognize any agreement reached through military pressure. MILLION DOLLAR FIRE HITS SOLDIERS' HOME

Records and Supplies Are Destroyed at Government Institution in Ohio.

Dayton, O., March 11.—(P)—The quartermasters' building at the national soldiers home here was destroyed by fire early today with a loss estimated at approximately $1,000,000. The building, a 40-year-old two-story brick structure, contained records of the home and supplies.

The blaze, of undetermined origin was brought under control after a fight of several hours. The loss is divided between the structure, one of the largest of the group of administration buildings, and the huge store of supplies and equipment in it.

SPAIN'S NEW DIVORCE CODE NOW IN EFFECT

Madrid, Mar. 11.—(P)—Spain's new divorce code went into effect today with publication in the official gazette of the new law recognizing civil divorce for the first time in Spain's history. Heretofore divorce has been the function of the ecclesiastic authorities.

The civil courts look for a busy time in the next few weeks. Lawyers, particularly the outstanding women lawyers, already have numerous divorce cases on file.

NEW STATE IS SEEKING LOAN FROM JAPANESE

Manchurian Cabinet Needs Money to Cover First Months' Expenses.

Tokyo, March 11.—(P)—A dispatch to the newspaper Asahi from Mukden, Manchuria, said one of the first acts of the new Manchurian cabinet was the decision to ask Japan for a loan of approximately $5,300,000. The loan was expected to cover the first few months' expenses of the new state until a financial organization was set up.

Hsieh Kai-Shih, foreign minister of the new state, telegraphed to the governments signatory to the nine-power treaty, including China, and to Germany, Soviet Russia and the league of nations notifying them of the establishment of the new government.

He pledged recognition and fulfillment of all foreign treaty rights, obligations and the maintenance of the "open door" and equal opportunity.

HOOVER SENDS WREATH AS TRIBUTE TO BRIAND

World Rulers Pay Homage to French 'Apostle of Peace' Who Lies in State.

Paris, March 11.—(P)—There was a wreath from President Hoover among today's new floral offerings which have made a conservatory of the Jaul D'Orsay clock room where Aristide Briand lies in state.

It was tied with the tricolor on which was inscribed in French "to Monsieur Briand—the President of the United States."

There were other flowers from United States Ambassador Edge and from the statesmen of a dozen other countries. One of the gifts bore the Rumanian colors and a card which read "to the great champion of peace from Carol of Rumania."

Thousands of humble Frenchmen had passed by the bier and today at the noon hour the city's workmen crowded into the room.

Many of them bore upon their breasts their wartime decorations. The national funeral will be held tomorrow.

CITY EMPLOYEES FIRED BY EFFICIENCY EXPERT

Chicago's Choice to Straighten Out Finances Makes Drastic Move.

Chicago, March 11.—(P)—Cook county and Chicago wanted an efficiency expert for an assessor so badly they persuaded J. L. Jacobs to take the job although he spurned it twice and others turned it down.

He gave them his idea of efficiency yesterday by dismissing 401 employees of the assessor's office and retaining only 90.

CHINA ADAMANT THAT JAPANESE WITHDRAW MEN

Refuses to Accept Any Settlement Which Does Not Guarantee Evacuation.

INTERPRETATION SOUGHT

Word from Geneva Awaited; Occupation of American Property Protested.

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS (Associated Press Staff Writer) Shanghai, March 11.—(P)—Chinese authorities were adamant today in refusing to accept any peace settlement which did not include an unconditional withdrawal of Japanese troops from the Shanghai area.

As a result, although both the Chinese and Japanese accepted the resolution of the league of nations adopted March 4 looking toward a settlement of hostilities here, no peace was in sight today.

Interpretation Sought The Chinese reiterated they were unwilling to enter into a conference on any other basis than unconditional withdrawal of troops by the Japanese, and Japanese diplomatic circles, although they said they were not only willing but anxious to enter into a conference with the Chinese, indicated it was imperative that the two sides get together on an interpretation of the league's resolution.

It was apparent the Japanese believed that unconditional withdrawal of troops was not intended by the league as a condition for the peace parleys.

Occupied American Property A heavy detachment of Chinese troops has occupied the American Episcopal church property at Changshu, 30 miles north of Soochow, for several days, missionaries here learned today.

All of the buildings on the property were occupied, it was reported, including a school which was abruptly closed when the troops arrived.

Another group of Chinese troops was reported occupying a church belonging to the same mission at Kunshan, on the Shanghai-Nanking railway. They were using the structure for a rice storehouse, the report said, and the weight of the grain caused the floor to give way.

Mission authorities asked the United States consulate to request the evacuation of both properties.

(Special to the Enquirer—News) Jonesville, March 11.—(P)—An entire block of business structures was threatened early this morning when the Jonesville theater was destroyed by fire at an estimated loss of $60,000.

Fire was first noticed at 1 o'clock this morning after it had gained considerable headway. Fire trucks from Hillsdale, 18 miles west, and from Richman and Allen, nearby towns, were called into action. Firemen got the blaze under control at 7 o'clock this morning and succeeded in confining the loss for the most part to the theater structure. The building was owned by Alf Lane of Jonesville. Insurance amounted to only $4,000, he said.

BOTH ROOSEVELT AND HOOVER GAIN NEEDED SUPPORT

Cause of Both Is Bolstered by Political Developments of Last Week.

IS BOOST FOR CANDIDACY

Former's Victory in New Hampshire Hailed; Backers Rally to Latter.

BY BYRON PRICE Washington, March 11.—(P)—March's most active week for presidential politics is ending with the democratic banners of Franklin D. Roosevelt a little higher in east and west, while the republicans rally behind President Hoover with increased manifestations of returning confidence.

Boost for Candidacy Roosevelt's parade through the New Hampshire primaries was hailed universally as a potent boost for his candidacy. Because it was a test at the polls, and because he upset a whole slate of candidates pledged to Alfred E. Smith in that New England sector where Smith was assumed to be strongest, the New Hampshire result overshadowed the Roosevelt capture of the larger, convention-instructed Minnesota delegation.

Significant Decision Among the republicans, the week's significant offering was the decision to put a slate of Hoover delegates into the Ohio primary of May 10. The administration's reverses in recent elections have taught the party managers a manifest caution. Besides, they have seen no reason to take unnecessary risks, and involve themselves in the local quarrels that (Please Turn to Page 18, Column 4)

ICEBREAKER RESCUES MEN ADrift IN GULF

Second Group of 100 Finnish Fishermen Finds Safety Through Today's Efforts.

Helsinki, Finland, March 11.—(P)—A second group of 100 fishermen whose lives have been imperiled on an ice floe in the Gulf of Finland since early this week, was rescued today.

Approximately 300 others still remain on the floes upon which they had been fishing earlier in the week, which broke away and drifted out to sea. A large number of horses also remain adrift.

An icebreaker picked up the group of 100 today near Suursaari island and brought them back here. Another group of 100 was rescued yesterday.

The condition of those who still remain on the floes was reported to be fairly good but the horses were said to be suffering extremely. Three airplanes left Vilpuri this morning carrying sacks of oats for the horses.

The group which is still adrift is somewhere in the extreme eastern portion of the gulf.

King's Grandson Weds Commoner In London Today

Grand Dutches Marie of Russia, His Mother, Does Not Attend Ceremony, Saying It Should Have Been Performed in Church.

London, March 11.—(P)—Prince Leonard, grandson of King Gustav of Sweden, and Miss Karin Niswold, daughter of a wealthy Stockholm business man, were married at the Prince's Row registry office at 11 a. m. today.

The prince and his fiancée came here because King Gustav refused his consent to the marriage if it could not be solemnized in Sweden.

The prince's mother, the Grand Dutches Marie of Russia, came from New York a week ago but did not attend the ceremony.

It appeared that there had been a difference of opinion between the prince and his mother on the eve of the ceremony.

"Marriage is too solemn an event to be undertaken in such undignified surroundings," the grand duchess said today. "He should have gone to a church—any church just so it was a church."

HCW SMART ARE YOU?

(Let each member of the family write down his or her own answer, or, if at school, let each write down the answer to each question. Of the 10 questions, four correct answers is a fair average for adults, three for children under 12. The correct answers will be found on the news notes page.)

Here's Cause To Be Happy!

Washington, March 11.—(P)—How about these for signs of improvement?

Hoarding during the last week decreased $39,000,000. National bank failures in the last three weeks were only two, lowest number for such a period in nearly two years.

The country's gold stocks increased $12,000,000 in the week. The treasury's latest issue of certificates ($800,000,000) was oversubscribed nearly four times in two days.

Loans to brokers and dealers repaid by the federal reserve bond bounded up $7,000,000, reflecting increased stock market activity. The reduction in total money in circulation since President Hoover called for a campaign against hoarding now amounts to a total of $7,000,000, bringing the total of currency and coin outstanding for all purposes to $5,544,000,000. The country's gold supply has gone up to $4,362,000,000. There was just $3,402,725,500 of capital clamoring to be taken in exchange for the treasury's new issue of short term paper, the larger part of it offered for the one-year 3 3/4 percent certificates.

FEAR OF FURTHER RIOTS EXPRESSED

Detroit Authorities Await with Forebodings Meeting Planned Tonight.

Detroit, March 11.—(P)—Authorities awaited today with some forebodings the next moves of an element among the unemployed blamed in Detroit last night for rioting at the gates of the Ford Motor Co.

A meeting in Arena Gardens has been called for tonight with the avowed purpose of planning further demonstrations.

A mass funeral for the four men killed Monday has been announced for tomorrow morning, with a parade to Woodmere cemetery where the four caskets are to be lowered into one grave.

Assistant Prosecutor Stephen J. Carey said some of last Monday's demonstrators had told him another demonstration was to be held at the entrance to Henry Ford's estate in Dearborn. Police Chief Orval Ingolsby, of Grosse Pointe Shores, said he had heard unverified reports of a demonstration being held at the gates to the Edsel Ford home in Grosse Pointe.

Detroit, March 11.—(P)—The American Civil Liberties Union today moved to prosecute members of the Dearborn police force for their part in the riot at the Ford Motor Co.'s River Rouge factory Monday in which four persons were shot to death and more than a score wounded.

The proceedings will be under the direction of Roger N. Baldwin, of the Civil Liberties Union, who arrived in Detroit last night to investigate the case. The union contemplates proceedings to fix the responsibility for the shootings and later suits for damages.

SECRETARY OF STATE TO SEEK REELECTION

Frank D. Fitzgerald, However, Says He's Not After Governor's Job.

Lansing, Mich., March 11.—(P)—Frank D. Fitzgerald, secretary of state, is a candidate for reelection to his present office, he said today in reply to reports that petition seeking to make him a candidate for governor have appeared in Detroit.

Fitzgerald said he has no knowledge of petitions being circulated in his behalf. He stated he is not seeking the republican gubernatorial nomination and is not a party to any movement in that direction.

Sailors in Peril As Storms Whip Atlantic and Great Lakes

(By the Associated Press) Rescue parties have set hoses to reach two marooned vessels in Lake Erie today, while on the Atlantic seaboard airplanes sought an unreported cruiser and rescue ships near Boston with 34 sailors who abandoned their sinking ship during a storm that for four days has swept central and eastern United States.

Ice-locked since Wednesday night near Put-In-Bay in Lake Erie, the U. S. government dredge Taylor, with 35 men aboard, was believed to no immediate danger of breaking up. Coast guardsmen pushed their way through floes to the dredge today and removed five men. The remaining 30, they said, would remain aboard, waiting the arrival of tugs from Toledo.

"Airplanes flew to the relief of the freighter Fellowcraft locked in the ice in Lake Erie off Pelee island today, dropping food to the 20 members of the crew who have been fighting the ice floes for two days.

EARLY INTEREST PROMISES HEAVY VOTE IN PRIMARY

Unusual Number of Candidates Will Contest for City Offices on March 28.

REGISTRATION IS ACTIVE

Spirited Fight by Democrats Indicates Close Battles for Township Offices.

Less than three weeks remain before the city primary on March 28 and unusual interest is already being manifested in the election this year. The primary is the prelude to the city election on April 4 which promises to bring out one of the heaviest votes in years.

Not only is election interest in the city growing rapidly this year but the political situation in neighboring townships has been enlivened by the possibility of democrats showing strength in township caucuses. The republicans of Battle Creek township have held their caucus and nominated candidates. A democratic caucus in Bedford Saturday night will be the first there in years.

In Battle Creek interest in the primary and election is heightened by the fact that there is an extraordinary large number of candidates in the field for the three available offices. Ten are in the race for the two commission posts and seven men are in the field for constable.

Can Register Until Wednesday At the close of registration last Wednesday for the primary were

More than 500 persons had registered. Voters have until next Wednesday to register for the city election and a large number has been calling at the city clerk's office each day.

An unusual feature of the commission race this year is the number of prospective candidates who are contesting for the two offices in pairs. The incumbents, Commissioners John MacGregor and Howard French make up one of the pairs, Edgar E. Lincoln and Samuel A. Howes constitute another and Dale Quirk and Charles Wright, both grocers, a third.

First Negro Entry Another feature of the commission race is the entrance of Attorney James Golden into the contest. It is the first time in the history of the city that a Negro has entered a commission primary. Nominating petitions for Attorney Golden were returned Thursday afternoon and checked today but lack six names. As soon as the additional names are provided they will be placed on file. Petitions for Mr. Lincoln have been approved and placed on file today.

Others in the commission race are Edward Morse, Fred Graves and Franklin T. Moisan. The seven men entered in the constable race are Charles Corwin, incumbent, Samuel H. Abbey, Norman Sturges, Harold Priest, Henry Lucas, Sturges, Harold Priest, Jesse Conklin, Carl Voorhes, and Jesse Conklin.

Petitions of candidates for the commission and constable offices must be returned to the city clerk's office by March 18 in order to make them eligible to compete in the primary. More than half of the candidates' petitions are now on file.

Members of the freighter's crew signaled a way well on board.

The tug, Barkhamstead, with the cutter Osipko reported the rescue of 34 men from the collier Debardeleben, which sank in a gale 500 miles off the coast, after battling the storm for four days. The British freighter Laganbank effected the rescue.

A Felix du Pont's yacht Nahma, unreported since Tuesday when it was sighted off Beaufort, N. C., was sighted early today continuing its trip southward, outside of the storm area.

Young Eaglet Still Missing

New Story Told Of Discovery Of Crime

BY ROBERT J. CAVAGNARO (Copyright, 1932, by Associated Press) Hopewell, N. J., March 11.—(P)—Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh was on the same floor as the nursery when the kidnapping of her baby was discovered a week ago last Tuesday, it was learned today, and the mother and nurse were not immediately alarmed, both thinking Colonel Lindbergh must have taken the child downstairs.

All previous reports have indicated that Mrs. Lindbergh was downstairs with her husband and that Betty Gow, the nurse, found the crib empty and rushed down to the parents with the announcement of the kidnapping.

But it was authoritatively determined today that at 10 o'clock of that night Mrs. Lindbergh was in a bathroom on the second floor, where the nursery is situated, preparing to take a bath.

When Miss Gow, who had only been called to the Lindbergh estate that afternoon despite previous announcements that she spent the weekend with the baby, found the

DEMOCRATS RAP FEDERAL BUDGET

Retaliate for Criticism of Sales Tax Proposal Through Their Ledgers.

Washington, March 11.—(P)—Under fire from many angles for their sponsorship of the huge sales tax proposal in the pending revenue bill, democratic leaders are retaliating with an assault on the four billion dollar federal budget of current years.

Both Senator Robinson of Arkansas and Representative Crisp of Georgia, in strategic positions for the party during the campaign, are clamoring for radical surgery to cut the government expenses to indispensable needs.

After both Robinson and Crisp had hammered at that argument in floor debate yesterday, the senator took the issue to the radio with a scolding at Geneva, Switzerland, and affixed a "four billion dollar federal government."

Commercial Travelers Association Adopts Resolution to Be Sent to Geneva.

A petition for disarmament will be sent this week to the Geneva conference by the Christian Commercial Travelers Association of America, with state headquarters in Battle Creek.

The Christian Commercial Travelers Association of America is a branch of the International Guilds of O. C. Atkinson of Battle Creek is president and J. Edgar Cole, also of this city, is secretary.

The petition is in the form of a resolution and was adopted at a recent meeting of the cabinet of the association in Grand Rapids. It was drawn up by the local president and secretary as follows: "To the disarmament conference, now in session at Geneva, Switzerland, we send you greetings, and pray that the spirit of universal brotherhood may prevail among the delegates and representatives of the many nations now assembled.

"We believe that war is a relic of the dark ages, and that our God of the twentieth century is a God of Peace, and not a God of war. Therefore we pray that this conference may have the mind of God and vote for disarmament of all nations.

Superintendent of New Jersey State Police Refuses to Answer Queries.

NO NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Bulletins Covering Progress in Case Are to Be Issued Twice Daily.

Hopewell, N. J., March 11.—(P)—Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey state police, announced today the police would discontinue replying to questionnaires on the Lindbergh kidnaping case and instead would issue bulletins twice daily—at 11 a. m. and 10 p. m.

Answering the questionnaires, Colonel Schwarzkopf said, "has taken a great deal of our time which really belongs to the advancement of the work," and his formal statement expressed "regret the attempt that has been made to dictate to the police."

Information Is Promised Assurance was given "that the moment anything definite develops, we will issue a bulletin immediately so that you may have prompt and authoritative information."

Colonel Schwarzkopf's action was precipitated by the questionnaire submitted to the police by some reporters assigned to the story shortly after midnight today. Several of the questions called upon the police to explain discrepancies in answers noted in previous questionnaires. Some of the questions, by inference, challenged the police action in certain phases of the investigation.

One question was: "Will you please give us a definite answer as to whether Colonel Lindbergh has communicated or attempted to communicate with the kidnapers by newspaper advertisement, letter, telephone or by other means, or whether he has received any message... which he believes to have come from the kidnapers? If the answer to this is the usual

COMPENSATIONS DENIED, ALLOWED

Former Employe on Farm Owned by Sanitarium Gets $11.66 Per Week.

THREE CASES RULED OUT

Loss of Sight in One Eye of Ex-Advance-Rumely Co. Employe Investigated.

Compensation was denied Morris Casey of Battle Creek in his case against the Advance Rumely Co. over the loss of his eyesight in his left eye by James Gibbons of Lansing, deputy labor commissioner, at the city hall today.

Mr. Casey maintained that while he was employed by the company a steel splinter entered his left eye causing the loss of his eyesight. The company claimed the splinter struck his right eye and that the injury healed. On the testimony of a doctor the commissioner ruled the splinter entered the right eye and was not the cause of the loss of sight in his left.

Compensation Granted In the case of Lawrence Purdue, a former employe on a farm owned by the Michigan Sanitarium and Benevolent association, seeking compensation for the loss of his eyesight from injuries received while in its employe, the commissioner granted compensation of $11.66 per week for a period of total disability. Mr. Purdue was struck by an automobile while walking across the highway at the farm last January. He suffered a fractured skull, broken ankle and severed artery. The commissioner ordered the defendant to pay the weekly compensation from last January 7 for as long as the plaintiff is totally disabled. The defendant was also ordered to pay a hospital bill of $112, doctor's bill of $227 and a nursing bill of $49.

Denied in Two Cases The commissioner denied further compensation in two cases. They were those of C. L. Harrington of Kalamazoo against the Battle Creek Gas Co. and Charles Young of Marshall, against the Globe Construction Co. In both cases the plaintiffs had received compensation for injuries and were asking for more. The commissioner ruled that they were able to return to work.

Ted Bugbee of Battle Creek was awarded compensation of 21 weeks and three days in his case against the Grand Union Tea Co. Mr. Bugbee, formerly a driver for the tea company, was injured in an automobile accident on US-13 near Co-reco about six months ago.

Commissioner Gibbons returned to Lansing today after hearing cases in Battle Creek for two days.

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER

DAILY LENTEN DEVOTION PREPARED BY THE REV. DR. H. L. BRADLEY

THE FEDERAL COUNCIL OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST IN AMERICA

"Wait for the Promise of the Father"

(Read Acts 1:4-8.)

It was this act of waiting that prepared the disciples for success in spreading the gospel. We are inclined to think that to wait is to waste time. This is why we do so many things before we are spiritually ready. If our faith were more simple and our confidence more steady, we should never be in such a hurry. One of the surest marks of confidence in the future is the capacity for patient postponement. It proves one's liberation from the world's frantic anxiety to "get things done." Let us be prepared to wait for the promise of the Father. It will come when the time is full.

Prayer: We remember, O Lord God, that a thousand years in Thy sight are as yesterday when it is past and as a watch in the night. Help us, therefore, to await Thy summons to action. Give us serenity in the days of long delay; and grant that, when the words of Thy promise are spoken and the hour of destiny has come, we may be girded and shod in preparation for the service Thy kingdom, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

TEACHERS RETURN AS STUDENTS IN SUMMER

More than One-Third in Battle Creek Spend Vacation by Taking More Courses.

Ninety-nine or nearly one-third of the teachers in Battle Creek's public schools attended summer schools last summer and figures compiled by the University of Columbia show that more students were enrolled at Columbia from Battle Creek last summer than from any other Michigan city.

Twenty-one of the Battle Creek public school faculty members studied on bachelor or master's degrees there. Western State Teachers college at Kalamazoo drew even more, 32 going to that school. Distribution of the 53 other teachers taking summer school work in colleges and universities is as follows: Battle Creek college, 18; University of Michigan, 10; Michigan State Normal, Ypsilanti, eight; Michigan State college, two; University of Syracuse, two, and one each to University of Mexico, University of California, Stout Institute, Whitewater Normal, National college at Evanston and the University of Colorado.

Of the Battle Creek teachers attending summer school 27 already had degrees and were taking additional work and 70 were working on a bachelor degree. They took a total of 212 courses. Education, social science, literature, English, natural science, physical education, mental hygiene, special education, languages, mathematics, vocational guidance and music led in their selection of studies.

KALAMAZOO WILL TO BE APPEALED

Plaintiff in Case Involving Howard Miller Wins Order To Carry Fight Higher.

Mrs. Grace Hazard Brown, who claims to be sole heir to the large estate of Miss Rachel Arvilla Parker-Kalamazoo, will be allowed to order just made by Judge George V. Weimer in Kalamazoo to appeal to circuit court from a probate court order dismissing her objections to a will by which Miss Parker left her entire estate to Howard Miller of Battle Creek. Miller is a former grocery clerk.

Mrs. Brown, a grand piece of Miss Parker, alleges Miller is not Miss Parker's nephew, as he claims to be, but an imposter. Miller has been held in jail in Kalamazoo since early in December on suspicion of having caused the death of Mrs. Brown's father, Charles Hazard, by poison. Judge Weimer stated in his opinion that he believes there is merit in Mrs. Brown's claim that Miller is not Miss Parker's nephew.

Miss Kemp appeared in a blue corsair knitted frock with a bell bow jacket.

Division two of the show consisted of smart suits and apparel for afternoon. Beige, red, white, blue, black and white featured as correct for afternoon wear. Many gowns for the hours between 5 and 8 o'clock were shown.

Gowns for evening caused considerable comment. Outstanding was a gold taffeta and brown dotted point d'esprit frock, girdled in royal purple satin. The dress was displayed by Mrs. Marshall who is a decided brunette. Miss Zuber displayed a black frock with which were worn red shoes and jewelry.

Mrs. Johanna Phares, new stylist for the J. C. Penney Co. was in charge of the show, assisted by Mrs. Wava Thompson, Mrs. Mable Williams and Mrs. Elsie Sutherland.

Flower-Fashion Show Proves How Nature Can Lend Her Artful Wiles

What a necklace of gardenias can do for a blue afternoon dress and the effect of a corsage of bronze gerberas on a brown sport coat surprised you. The importance of proper floral accessories to one's costume was proven at a fashion show at the Battle Creek college auditorium Wednesday evening.

Four young women in gowns, hats and shoes from the Jos. C. Grant Co. wore, with their costumes, corsages prepared during the afternoon. The show was part of a two-day school for florists conducted here through the United States department of agriculture and Michigan State college extension department. Professor Paul E. Krone of Michigan State served as master of ceremonies at the evening flower-fashion revue and spoke at the afternoon meeting of nearly 30 florists when the corsages for the revue were made up.

The place of flowers for sport, street, afternoon, luncheon and evening costumes was discussed during the afternoon session and their ability to add beauty to every type of dress was shown at the evening display.

Every bride carries a bouquet on her wedding day. But it is no longer fashionable to have that bouquet so large the bride can hardly see over the top of it, but it became a beautiful accessory to the wedding gown displayed by Miss Marian Sylvester in the Wednesday show when an orchestra played Lohengrin's Wedding March for the closing feature of the display.

Miss Sylvester as the bride in the wedding party at the close of the revue, which had included all types of daytime and evening dress, wore a close-fitting white satin gown and carried a sheath of calla lilies as she came onto the platform and as she reached the opposite side of the stage, exchanged with a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and gardenias.

She was preceded by Gloria Coone as the flower girl, carrying a basket of flowers. Miss Jane Boomhower as maid of honor and Miss Geraldine Hicks and Miss Rosalind Buckley, bridesmaids, had taken their places on the stage before Miss Sylvester's entrance. Miss Boomhower's dress was white with a touch of green in the sash, Miss Buckley was in green and Miss Hicks in peach gowns and all had corsages of the proper color flowers.

Between the displays of coats, suits, knitted sports dresses, luncheon and afternoon bridge dresses and dinner gowns Mr. Krone talked on the use of flowers on the table and as decoration in the home in addition to their beauty note in dress and arrangement of flowers for the dinner table which was set on the stage while dinner gowns were displayed included Sweet Adeline roses, a type recently perfected by florists. More than two dozen of these roses were used in the centerpiece which included dozens of sweet peas of the same shade.

The gerberas worn by Miss Boomhower on her coat in the revue rarely opened the show as a flower rarely opens its petals. They resemble a daisy, have tiny petals and are bronze and old rose in color.

Each of the 500 persons who attended the revue was presented with a corsage as a gift from the florists sponsoring the affair.

LEGION COMMANDER, EDITOR HERE TODAY

Leslie Keifgen of Bay City and Jack Cann to inspect Poppy-Making Work.

Leslie Keifgen of Bay City, department commander of the American Legion and Jack Cann, editor of the American Legion Weekly, published at Detroit, were expected to arrive in Battle Creek this afternoon to inspect the poppy-making of former service men at the American Legion hospital.

Thousands of these poppies are made at the American Legion hospital each year, to be sold at the approach of Memorial day. The receipts go back into American Legion funds. The poppy making is an interesting spectacle.

Captain Keifgen, a flier in the World war, is popular with the Legionnaires of the state and his visit to the hospital is anticipated with pleasure by the patients. He was instrumental in arranging for the Legion sponsorship of the Michigan air show and will fly a plane in the caravan.

NEW STORY IS TOLD OF CRIME'S DISCOVERY

crib empty. She went to the bathroom and asked if Mrs. Lindbergh had the child there with her. The mother said she did not have the baby but even then no feeling of consternation was experienced by the two women, though Mrs. Lindbergh did immediately begin to dress.

"I guess the colonel must have taken him downstairs," Miss Gow is reported to have said, in effect, and she went down to ask the father.

When Miss Gow learned that the colonel did not have the baby, however, she suddenly realized the seriousness of the situation and screamed that the baby had been stolen.

By that time Mrs. Lindbergh was in the nursery and Colonel Lindbergh joined her there. After a hasty search of house and grounds the police were notified and the hunt began which was still in full swing today without any palpable results.

It has been repeatedly stated that Miss Gow did not leave the Lindbergh house on the day of the kidnapping or during the previous weekend. This was literally true, but it was only learned today that it was also misleading. Miss Gow did not leave the Lindbergh home during that period for the very simple reason that she was not there.

The Lindberghs had been accustomed to leave Miss Gow at the Morrow home in Englewood when they made their weekend trips to their estate here, and they followed this custom on this occasion. On Tuesday, however, they decided to remain here instead of returning to Englewood as they had planned, because of the baby's cold.

And so the telephone to the Morrow home and had Miss Gow come out. She arrived late in the afternoon.

Colonel Lindbergh got home at 8:30, half an hour after the baby had been put to bed, and he and Mrs. Lindbergh at once had dinner. After dinner they sat in the living room for a little while and then Colonel Lindbergh moved to his desk in the room beneath the nursery and Mrs. Lindbergh went upstairs to take a bath before going to bed.

Henry (Red) Johnson, Miss Gow's sailor friend, had a "date" with her for that evening in Englewood and when he appeared to keep that engagement he learned the nurse had been called to Hopewell. He telephoned her about 9 o'clock to express his regret that they could not have their evening together.

DAUGHTER OF RAILROAD BUILDER HERE IS DEAD

Father of Mrs. Marion L. Darling, 89, Built Marshall-Battle Creek Railway.

The daughter of one of the builders of the old railway from Marshall to Battle Creek, Mrs. Marion L. Darling, 89, is dead at her home, 18 1/2 Grant. Death followed a heart attack Wednesday evening at 7:20 o'clock.

Her father, Mr. Layton, was one of the pioneers who traveled westward from New York, where Mrs. Darling was born in 1842. The Layton came to Michigan in 1843. She married William Darling of Marshall in 1865, one of the enlisted men in the first volunteer company of Michigan sharpshooters. He was only 17 at the time of his enlistment.

The Darlings lived in Burlington shortly after their marriage and then moved to Mattawan, where Mr. Darling died. In 1908 Mrs. Darling came to Battle Creek. She moved to Colorado the following year where she resided until 1927 when she came to Chicago to live with her grandchildren until two years ago, when she returned to Battle Creek. The grandchildren are the only survivors.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in Mattawan and burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery there.

Man Frozen to Death

That the battle of seasons will continue was indicated by the weather forecast today, predicting that the temperature will remain about the same.

On the Atlantic coast winter was holding its own last night. New York City was colder yesterday than any day this season, the mercury dropping to 13 above. One man was frozen to death there, and western New York's second blizzard of March claimed the life of a Buffalo merchant.

SPRING STAGES NEW COMEBACK

Winter Attempts to Make Stand While Mercury Climbs To 25-Degree Mark.

HARD ON WINTER SPORTS Turn for Warmer Temperature Spoils Chances for Skating on Lakes.

Winter was pushed back on its heels in Battle Creek today while spring, after lying prostrate for a week, was showing signs of a rapid rally and another comeback.

The turn for warmer weather has practically spoiled whatever chances there were for skating on lakes and ponds in the vicinity. The city planned to prepare the slide near Cliff street for use if the cold remained long enough to warrant it. The sun's appearance this afternoon did its part in breaking up such plans.

Snow Falls Near Gulf Snow flurries were reduced to a mere gesture this morning and it appeared winter had weakened after six days of continual driving. Its stand in this vicinity, however, has a sharp contrast to that reported in other sections of the country.

Snow has fallen near the Gulf of Mexico and Houston, Tex., is said to have gotten so excited about white flakes that persons clogged the phone exchange talking about it. Crops were reported damaged in the area.

But in Battle Creek today winter lost a count when the mercury reached out to the 25-degree mark, one above the maximum yesterday. Low for last night was nine degrees. At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 11 degrees.

RED CROSS WILL GIVE OUT WHEAT

Calhoun County Chapter Receives Instructions from National Red Cross.

MUST PAY FOR SHIPPING

Order Blank Has One Section Requiring Agency to Pay Shipping Charges.

The Calhoun county chapter of the Red Cross today received a letter from the National Red Cross giving instructions relative to the 60,000,000-bushel wheat supply which is being released throughout the nation this week for local relief. Mrs. Mabel C. Baker, secretary of the Red Cross chapter here, is at present in Canada and will not return until Monday and all action in making plans to procure flour from the wheat in this vicinity must await her return.

In Charge of Applications The letter from the National Red Cross stated that the handling of all applications for the flour here would be in charge of Mrs. Baker. She is to receive applications for the product from other relief agencies in the city and these agencies are to be formed into a community committee on flour distribution. Mrs. Baker will head this committee and all applications must receive her approval before they are sent to national headquarters.

The application blanks for the flour provide that the largest quantity that can be obtained is the amount necessary to care for all deserving families for a period of 90 days. At the end of the 90 days the order may be renewed if necessary and in case of an emergency where more flour is needed within the 90-day period, a greater quantity will be provided.

Saving Anticipated The order blank has one section which requires that the agency receiving the flour be willing to pay for any shipping charges. However, just what action the national agency will take on the shipping expenses has not been determined.

The department of public welfare in Detroit is anticipating a saving of $43,000 a month if it can acquire some of the government-owned wheat, an Associated Press dispatch says.

Request has been made of the United States grain stabilization corporation by Rep. Robert H. Clancy for 60,000 bushels of the 40,000,000-bushel supply. Efforts are being made to induce Detroit millers to grind the wheat, taking the bran and other by-products as payment.

VETERAN ACTOR DIES AT AGE OF 84 YEARS

Judge William Ellis Horton Started Career on Broadway Before Civil War.

Mt. Clemens, Mich., March 11.—(AP)—Judge William Ellis Horton, who started his theatrical career on Broadway three score and ten years ago, is dead. He was 84 years old.

A minstrel at 15, with Sam Sharpley's New York "Ironclads," named from the "Monitor" whose defeat of the Confederate Merrimac then was a sensation. Horton of recent years had taken melancholy pleasure in terming himself the last of the old time troupers.

There was nothing of melancholia in him, however, and during the long years that he was bound by paralysis to a wheel chair no trouper worthy of the title visited Detroit without calling on him.

Born in 1848 in New York, Horton joined the Hawkins Zouaves as a drummer boy shortly after his introduction to minstrelsy. Back from the war, he worked as supernumerary in the old Bowery theater, then graduated to a speaking part in The Union Spy at Tony Pastor's opera house in 1868. From the "top boys," advance agent, company manager and theater manager until ill health forced him to retire in 1882, his trouping days over. He spent the rest of his day in Mt. Clemens and Detroit and when he died late yesterday in Grace hospital, he had outlived most of the troupers who were breaking into the game when he was retiring.

He was the author of two volumes on the theater, About Stage Folks and Driewood of the Stage, both accepted as authorities on matters theatrical.

Levetzki Charms Many Hearers at Kalamazoo Recital

The lights dimmed, and a short rather heavily built man with a young face and a bald head walked spryly to the piano on the stage of the Kalamazoo high school auditorium Thursday evening. While the audience was quieting down he played arpeggios and chords. Waiting a moment for almost absolute silence, Mischa Levitzki launched into the sprightly Scarlatti Sonata in A major. His mastery of the piano was at once apparent, but his manner seemed distant and aloof.
An appreciative audience brought Levitzki into a closer feeling with the lovers of music present and after the first number he assumed to put more fire and soul-feeeling into his interpretations of the well known masters. His technique was so flawless that the audience was not aware that Bach's Chromatic Fantasy and Fugue was a test of skill, for it seemed to be a study in tempo and delicate and firm touches. Levitzki's fingers appeared rather short but this in no way detracted from their ability.
Melody from Orpheus (Gluck-Sgambati) a dainty song-like melody with a light running accompaniment, was the second number of the opening group. Beethoven's well loved Moonlight Sonata lost none of its beauty as it seemed to gain in meaning through his interpretation. Seven Chopin numbers formed the third group, which was played with such delicate innuendoes and shades of tone as to prove Levitzki's love of the pieces. The A flat major Valse Brillante, two preludes in A major and F major and the A flat major Polonaise were especially enjoyed. As encores to this group he gave Waltz in G flat and the lovely black key etude.
The final group included, three numbers by modern composers which were interestingly given. Ravel's cool, bright, Jeux d'Eau (The Fountain), Debussy' La Fille aux Cheveux de Lin (Girl with the Flaxen Hair) and the delightful "Golliwog's Cake walk. Levitzki's own number of ballet music, The Enchanted Nymph was light and airy, and he concluded his program with Rubenstein's Staccato Etude which required a wonderful technique. As final encores Levitzki gave Chopin's final sonata, the Aeolian Harp, and Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2 by Liszt, a last beautiful touch to a well received program.
Among the Battle Creek persons attending the concert were Mrs. Winifred Kingsley, Harry Hacker, Mrs. E. C. Hawes, Mrs. Gertrude Chapin, Mrs. C. G. Peffer, Mrs. D. E. Jayne, Maxwell Leonard, Mrs. J. E. Cooper and son, Mrs. Lillian Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Preston, Miss Grace Garley and Miss Eva Palmer.—E. E. H.

Parent-Teacher Activities

Officers were elected at the fathers' night meeting of the Lincoln school parent-teacher unit Thursday evening in the gymnasium of the school. Mrs. George Blade was elected president; Mrs. Lee Eskola, reflected first vice president; Mrs. Lenore McEain, elected second vice president; Herbert Sootman, third vice president; Mrs. William Jones, secretary; Mrs. Norris Goodrich, treasurer; Mrs. David Schuster, chaplain; Miss Cornelia Osborn, historian. The program was in charge of LaVerne Wilcox, and included violin numbers by Mary Esther Hauck, accompanied by J. D. Parrish; a talk on his experiences with birds by Dr. L. H. Walkinshaw; two reels of pictures of birds in Michigan by E. M. Brigham, Jr. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Maynard Spyker.
Mrs. Leslie Hempstead was re-elected president of the Wilson school parent-teacher unit at the meeting Thursday evening. Mrs. George Baird was re-elected as historian, but the other officers are new as follows: Mrs. E. H. White, first vice president; Mrs. Marjorie Powers, second vice president; Mrs. Ansel Crandall, third vice president; Mrs. L. F. Walters, secretary; Mrs. Willura Trichon, treasurer. The program for the evening included a talk on safety in the school by Howard G. Arntz of the Detroit A. A. club. He spoke of the progress of the teachings of safety as shown in the decreased number of accidents of children of school age, but a continued number among children of pre-school age. This would indicate a need of greater cooperation from the parents in the matter of teaching safety. Mr. Arntz said. He also showed pictures of the work done in the school in first aid. Miss Agnes Leahy sang and Miss Laura Merritt gave a reading. The teachers announced a card party which will be held in the school April 14, the proceeds to be used to buy a radio for the school. Miss Helen Cook's and Miss Ella Kellor's rooms tied for the picture which is given in recognition of the greatest number of parents present at the meetings. Refreshments were served in charge of Mrs. E. H. White.

TREATMENTS TO START MARCH 21

Immunization for Diphtheria Will Be Given at Ann J. Kellogg School.

TO RESUME WORK HERE

Dr. Robert Simpson, School Physician, States Plans; 408 Children Treated.

Immunization treatments for diphtheria will be given at the Ann J. Kellogg school beginning Monday, March 21, to all students whose parents permit. Diphtheria treatments for children in the Battle Creek public schools have just been concluded by Dr. Robert Simpson, school physician.

Toxoid is used for the last 10 years the children in the public schools have been given the opportunity to receive these treatments. At present diphtheria toxoid is administered where formerly toxin-antitoxin is used. Dr. Simpson explains that toxoid is not only more successful than toxin-antitoxin but that it is more pleasant for the children and requires only two injections. In using toxin-antitoxin four injections were needed. Now the toxoid is administered and then three weeks later another injection is made.

To Resume Treatment This year Dr. Simpson gave the treatment to 408 children in the public schools. All of the children are 10 years old or under except in exceptional cases when an older student requests the treatment. Dr. Simpson says that children over 10 years old have received the treatment before and are immune. The others, however, are receiving it for the first time.

Immunization treatments were also given by Dr. Simpson at St. Philip school but he was forced to discontinue them when the children at the school were vaccinated after being exposed to smallpox. In a short time he will resume the treatments.

Students at Lakeview and Springfield Place schools have received immunization treatments but they were not given by Dr. Simpson as these schools are outside the city.

The defendant was driving the truck, according to the plaintiff's bill. Mr. Walters seeks $1,000 for personal injuries suffered in the accident.

BALANCE

Opposition to the new congressional tax program, including a manufacturers' tax and an increase and enlargement of the income tax, was inevitable.

Regardless of opposition, the program reflects a determined attitude on the part of congress for which the country is thankful.

The new tax program is aimed at a balancing of the national budget. This is a goal on which both parties and all factions have united.

It is a hard goal to achieve. Many of the very ones who would benefit by it stand in the way of it, protesting taxes levied on them or appropriations denied them.

This opposition would be a considerable handicap to a political body in any year. It is a much larger handicap in the year of a presidential campaign.

The congressmen who are risking their own political security to fight for economy and a balancing of the budget during the present session fulfill the highest opportunities of their position.

Though the manufacturers protest a manufacturers' tax, even though most of it will be passed down the line to the consumer, and though all who will be included for the first time in the income tax class object, congress should have credit for courageously undertaking an unpleasant, difficult and politically dangerous job.

The tax program is not the wisest that could have been conceived. For one thing, the uncertainties of the income tax have been demonstrated sufficiently to recommend its abolition as a measure which cannot be depended upon when the revenue from it is most needed.

The tax program, however, is a step toward a balanced budget. The other step which must be taken and which has not been taken yet is economy.

Congress must cut expenditures far more than they have been cut. Millions must be lifted from the load. If the balancing is to call for more on the tax end it must also include less on the expense end.

Congress has shown courage thus far, and it will need more to go the rest of the distance.

HE NEEDS SYMPATHY

The nomination for having the hardest job in the country goes to J. L. Jacobs.

Mr. Jacobs has agreed to be Chicago's city assessor. Mr. Jacobs refused twice to take the job, but not merely as a matter of economy such as explained the refusal of Henry Pu-Yi, the boy emperor of Manchuria.

point and that it frequently leads to strife and killing.

There is a mean job. They are hired to distort men's thoughts and to profit on misery and hardship.

They knew that the assembling of a mob of 3,000 marchers for a concerted rush on an industrial plant would cause trouble.

Communist of course have raised the cry in Detroit that the search for men believed to have been the agitators of the trouble is intended to divert attention from police guilt.

Regardless of guilt in the shooting, whether the first bullets were fired from the police defenders of the plant or from the crowd, the search for anyone and everyone suspected of having precipitated the hostility which caused the march ought to be continued until successful.

Incendiaries obstructs the very undertakings designed to help the working classes. It stands in the way of the return of jobs.

WORSE THAN POISON GAS

Fielding H. Yost, director of athletics at the University of Michigan, said during a talk here the other night at the Civic Recreation association banquet something which was an offside from his subject but which was a verbal 50 yard pass for touchdown.

"Gossip," he said, "is worse than poison gas and destroys more happiness." The connection between football, Mr. Yost's favorite subject, and gossip may not be clear.

The pessimist is inclined to think the milk of human kindness has curdled.

OTHER EDITORIAL OPINION

LET'S GO NATIVE From the "Herald" Journal The burning desire to get away—far away—comes to all, now and then.

What is there to all this dull tyranny of time clocks, trade competition, both tubs and meaningless manners of polite people? It wears one with its monotony; it chokes one with its lack of freedom; it makes a man a piece of insensate machinery.

And how glorious it would be to lie on the soft sands all day in a land of perpetual spring with no work, no responsibilities, no cares—just a life to lead as fancy dictates.

But the account of a traveler just returned from far-off places spoils the dream by declaring that nothing is so static as life among the "natives." The food is the same day after day—and one suddenly remembers that one doesn't like bananas.

Besides, one couldn't leave without knowing whom the democrats are going to nominate.

THAT TIRED FEELING

Athletes in Training Must Watch Continued Fatigue, Since They Should Recover Rapidly

This is the second of five articles by Dr. Fishbein on "That Tired Feeling: How You Get That Way and What to Do About It." Others will follow daily.

Fatigue for the athlete, as a rule, is planned and prepared for in advance. For that reason, ordinary fatigue is not dangerous for the track man, for instance.

But if "that tired feeling" persists after the body has been given ample time to repay the energy "debt" against the body, then it is time to study the causes and remove them.

Research has shown that a track athlete in good condition, can recover 46 percent of his lost energy in five minutes after an exhausting dash. Within 5 minutes, his recovery is 64 percent complete; in 45 minutes, it is 95 percent complete, and the athlete is ready to give his best efforts in another event.

The events in most track meets are so arranged that preliminary heats are run early, with finals coming after other events have given the athletes time to recover the energy expended in their earlier exertions.

Training enables the athlete to replace used energy rapidly than the ordinary person can, but if over-training has been indulged in, steadiness will result.

The best remedy for staleness is a complete rest for several days and then a gradual resumption of training activities.

The principal reason for fatigue in athletes is the fact that their great exertions cause a great deal more lactic acid in the system than can be oxidized at the time.

This condition results in the rapid breathing and quickened pulse of the athlete, which continues long after his exertion period is over.

Increase in the amount of oxygen taken in, however, is valuable only in so far as the increase does not go beyond the amount the blood vessels are able to carry to the body.

Increased pulse is valuable only to the point where the heart is receiving blood as rapidly as it tries to send it out. This speed is governed by the rapidity of the circulation back to the heart and not by the rate at which the heart can pump it back.

These relative increases are high in the trained athlete and allow him to recover quickly. In persons not in training, they occur in lesser degree.

Publicity Is Blamed in Lindbergh Search

Battle Creek, March 9. Editor, Enquirer and News: I do believe that the Lindberghs would have had their child back soon after it was taken if the reporters and some of the officers had not been letting out (after Mr. Lindbergh and the governor had offered immunity to the publications) how there were officers and detectives in every tree around the place and intimidating them.

There ought to be a law for reporters to keep them from being too efficient till the truth could be learned and their wild precipitate minds settled. I should look in the slums for him as he could shove or cock his hair and dress him in girls clothes and they might not be looking to find him dirty and with low born people.—A. I. M.

Asserts Referendum Would Gain Nothing

Battle Creek, March 9. Editor, Enquirer and News: This letter is addressed to Mr. E. M. M., who states in the News of the 4th that the dry should have sense enough to keep still during the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

He also refers to promises made by the drys before the 18th Amendment was adopted. He also recommends a referendum on the liquor question in the event the people want one and invites an expression of opinion on this subject.

Mr. M.—if I am not mistaken in your identity, you are a man of business acumen and I am sure you are willing to think facts through when properly presented.

The referendum convention for a being advocated by Mr. Rascoe and other leaders of the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment. With a budget of more than $100,000 raised for the specific purpose of sending wet delegates to the Detroit veterans convention and stampeding that convention for a referendum vote, the dry vets were tricked and the true expression of the rank and file of the veterans was not obtained and was not wanted by the vets behind that piece of trickery.

Such tactics as this together with the expenditure of fabulous sums of money by certain wet leaders to promote this "retreat" constitutes a very good reason for the dry element to oppose it. Any man or woman in the union that is really interested in the sobriety of the states should find out what Rascoe wants, and immediately take the opposite side. He will play safe every time.

A resolution calling for the referendum would have to be ratified by a two thirds vote in congress, and would then have to be ratified by three-fourths of the state legislatures or by constitutional conventions called by the states. This would require more than two years' time, and during the time the resolution was pending every effort would be made to weaken the laws and prevent their enforcement.

The country has never had a referendum on any constitutional amendment, and there exists in the minds of able constitutional lawyers doubt as to the validity of any referendum on constitutional provisions.

A national vote (which could be nothing more than a straw vote) would cost the taxpayers a pile of money and would mean absolutely nothing.

We have a representative government and not a plebiscite. The wets must secure legislators pledged to their cause and come through on the same road we drys used to pry the 18th amendment on the books.

The wets will use the referendum only as a means of spotting the drys in the legislature and intelligently use big money to defeat them. My advice to the legislator is—don't be caught in their trap, and to the taxpayers don't waste your money.—O. C. Atkinson, vice president, Allied Forces.

TODAY IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY

TURKS ARE ROUTED On March 11, 1918, Turkish forces fell back in great disorder from Hill in Mesopotamia with the British outposts were placed more than 20 miles above the city after an all-day chase of their adversaries.

British advances in Palestine were also noted, although these troops met with stiff resistance from opposing Turkish regiments.

Germany's accounting to several divisions delivered a terrific blow to British troops near Ypres. After heavy fighting, which continued through the night, German gains were considered slight.

New York, March 11.—Thoughts while strolling: Just as Outney Madden was crawling the Sutton Place tea, she had a husband. Leslie Howard's a thin edition of Conrad Nagel. And Frank Buck, the wild animal trainer, with a white eye patch could pass for Floyd Gibbons. Tony Hughes.

Harlan Dixon always carries a book. Lit-ty! Why don't they pronounce Houston street like Houston, in Texas? The abbreviated "Inc." radiates an influence but means nothing. A horse ring of the sentimental 90's resting in an old 49th street wall. Push cart faces in imported limousines.

Rex Cole, a Fort Huron, Mich., boy who made good in the city. One word description of Lillian Gish—glahsh. Russell Patterson graying at the temples. A favorite Broadwayite—Billy Moore. Overhead not been letting out (after Mr. Lindbergh and the governor had offered immunity to the publications) how there were officers and detectives in every tree around the place and intimidating them.

Hard to imagine Lowell Thomas was once one of the boys around hell-roaring Cripple Creek. That grand driver is just behind the Winnie Lightner. The Biallo's best-dressed detective, "Duke" Broderick. Stanley Rinehart and Ring Lardner bear a resemblance. Ben All Haggin goes plump.

The most exciting period around Grand Central is just before the 20th Century thunders out. Those starchy old boys along Murray Hill who salute with frigid little bows. Some day I'm going to go aristocratic. And wear a square crowned derby. Hot-diggedy!

I can never remember whether Iben is a Dane or Norwegian. George Bye skedaddling along. Ships with baby doll stares hunting sidewalk adventures. Bishop Manning window shopping. Winston Churchill's face has the chubbiness of a happy baby. Life seems to melt in his mouth like butter.

Cobina Wright of the Social Register. Who conducts a Sutton Place supper club. That fugitive line running through my head all day: "Runs wild a clamor in the thorny scrub. Maybe I'm getting balm! (Voice: Getting!) And will I tear into that upside down cake this evening!"

Lowell Thomas, incidentally, is Grand Central of the Tall Story Club, a worthy organization of romantic glossiarists. Members offer a lofty sacrifice of veracity. It's the duty of each to give panache and altitudinous devotion to the Great American Whopper.

Dorothy Parker has high-hatted more editors and book publishers than any writer of her day and retained their profound admiration. She answers no letters, telephone calls or frantic telegrams. But when coming upon those who bestir her, seems started into wide-eyed, disarming innocence. For almost everything save writing she expresses the wholesome vigour of an entire hockey team. Although she has a ready market in almost every editorial shop she has to be wheeled out of her copy often a paragraph at a time.

From Paris slips another story about Gilbert White, the painter. Mr. White, with Michael Angelo majesty and ineptistic victoriousness of a bathing beauty, affects hair to his broad shoulders, an Elbert Hubbard tie and a wide Latin Quarter hat. With an American friend he cater-cornered across the Place de la Concorde the other week. Toward him came one of those incredibly filthy and ragged artists with a wild mop of hair and features blurred by tipping. Mr. White walked almost into him, stepped quickly aside and exclaimed: "Parsons, I thought I was looking into a mirror."

On White's visit last Fall he was tossed a binge on Long Island. Afterward the guests piled into waiting limousines to ride home. For some reason there was no place for the artist. "It's all right," he said, "I'll trot behind and bark." And what is more, he did for several blocks.

A dull play offered, a brief moment last night. A strange lady in the next seat demanded the lady to front remove her hat. She did and her hair ballooned to the proportions of a nail keg. And I silently trilled a trio of goodies!

Back home post-card: "Where do you get that cozier floutant marvelous stuff? You were brought up on turnip greens, corn bread and black strap molasses."

But do I handle store vittles now? You know, the little finger high in the air! (Copyright, 1932)

With the Clubs

Twenty-five members of the Altrusa club attended the mid-week luncheon meeting held Wednesday noon in the private dining room in the Post Tavern, after which the March business meeting was held. Following the transaction of routine business, the matter of changing the club schedule to two meetings per month was informally discussed. Ballots in the form of questionnaires were distributed and are to be mailed to the president before March 14. The March business meeting of Altrusa Daughters, Inc., followed at the club, during which the following attendance report was presented by the house committee for the previous month: Number of families represented, 21; number of children enrolled, 33; aggregate attendance, 866; average for week days, 28; average for Saturdays, 18; oldest child, 11 years, 11 months; youngest child, 21 months; number of children of school age, 14. Light treatments have been given at regular intervals during the winter months and estimated to have averaged one and one-half hours of sunlight. The nursery has just been supplied with a new refrigerator and gas stove. Next Wednesday evening the club will join the Circuitus and Business & Professional Women's clubs in a dinner meeting at 6:30 at the Sanitarium. Each club will contribute to the program.

The group of members from the Battle Creek Business & Professional Women's club who motored to Kalamazoo to attend the banquet to be given by the Kalamazoo club at the Columbia hotel included Mrs. Effie A. Tyril, Mrs. Nellie Parker, Dr. Bertha Selmon, Miss Grace Miller, Miss Gladie Baltz, Mrs. Jennie McKelvey, Miss Lana Aldrich, Miss Julia Allen and guest Mrs. Cora Scott Bentz, and Miss Rebecca Barnhart. They were joined by Miss Louise Diehl and Miss Dorothy Overhaul, both of Marshall. Miss Kathleen O'Brien also attended, entering with Mrs. Geline Bowman, national president and guest speaker, from Racine, Wis. where they attended a banquet given by the Wisconsin federation Wednesday night. Battle Creek's delegation might have been larger had it not been for the Levitzky concert last evening which was the last number in the Philharmonic course.

CONDITION IS IMPROVED
Mrs. Robert J. Seator, 10 Battle Creek avenue, who has been ill with the gripple for the last week, is improving although she is still confined to her bed.

Comic Classic of American Stage Charms Audience at Southwestern

Arthur Blackaller as the Rip Van Winkle of Washington Irving's story played his way into the hearts of an audience of nearly 700 children and adults at the Southwestern auditorium Thursday evening as he and a cast of about 40 professionals and children relived the comic classic of American literature. Mr. Blackaller once played with the famous Joe Jefferson who made the role of "Rip" historic.

His jolly, carefree manner in spite of any adversity was the bane of existence to his wife, Gretchen, played by Grace Baird, but won the audience in the first act.

Eight Southwestern students coached by Mr. Blackaller gave creditable performances in their roles and a group of 18 as villagers and seven as gnomes aided in creating atmosphere for the play. Scenery and costumes provided by Mr. Blackaller's company were effective and the lighting effects and staging for the mountain scenes were especially good.

Members of the professional group who took the heavier parts included, besides Mr. Blackaller and Grace Baird, Henry Blackaller as Derrick Van Beechman; Vernon Ives, Nick Vedder and H. Garner as the Hein-drick Vedder grown to manhood when Rip returned from his long sleep. Harry Keithley, a Southwestern student, gave a good performance as the boy Heinrich and Janet Teeter as Rip's little daughter, Meemie, was also good.

Lee Mallison played the boy part of Cookies and Charles Hoagland took that role in the scenes 20 years later. Richard Birdall was the Seth at the tavern who told Rip of some of the changes which had occurred during his long sleep, including his own death, and brought from Rip the remark, "If Rip Van Winkle was dead and this me, then who in the devil am I?" Donald Burger headed the group of queer little gnomes and Alfred McGee acted the part of the grandfatherly gnome.

Other little boys and girls in gnome costume were Eleanor Teeter, Maurine Woolcock, Harriet Gregory, Robert Irish, Paul Steinger, Howard Vogt and Wilson Glidden. Students in the group of villagers included Lloyd Hunt, Ivan Dahn, Glenn Brydges, Keith Hayes, Nyle Sherrick, John Walters, Ray Rosa, Charles McGinnis, Eileen Einhart, Ernestine Olmsted, Pauline Kimble, Marjorie Dodge, Euclah Van Stickle, Eron Sise, Maybelle Kraft, Maxine DeLong, Betty Sterling and Mabel Harmon.

Vernon Ives, a member of the professional company, entertained with imitations on the violin and jokes while the elaborate staging for the fourth act was being arranged. Music was provided by the Southwestern Junior high school orchestra.

An even larger audience than that which attended last evening is expected to witness the play tonight when it is repeated, beginning at 8 o'clock.

In the past three months Mr. Spence has spoken in 48 colleges and universities. He is recognized as probably the most fully informed man in Canada on the liquor problem.

Child in Auto Is Sure Way to Get Attention

It's an exciting drive from Miami, Fla., to Battle Creek over the eastern route when one has a small child in the automobile and old license plates on it.

Mrs. Nelson Beeckel of Detroit, who arrived in Battle Creek last night for a visit with her mother, Mrs. W. S. Faith, 75 South Division, made the drive but only after several stops.

Mrs. Beeckel spent the winter in Florida and has 1931 Michigan plates on her automobile. Returning with her from the south was her five-year-old daughter who has light curly hair.

Twice she was stopped by state police officers who demanded to know if she had the Lindbergh baby. Her daughter is nearly four years older than the Lindbergh child but the police didn't want to take no for an answer. Nor did the fact that she told the police her child was a girl didn't stop them from questioning her.

Mrs. Beeckel didn't surmise that she would be stopped in connection with the Lindbergh case but she was worried about her old license plates and every time she was stopped she believed it was because of the plates.

A few officers questioned her about the plates but allowed her to continue to Battle Creek. Once here she placed her auto in storage until she obtains a new license.

L. C. PARSHALL BETTER FOLLOWING ACCIDENT

The knee cap of the left leg was shattered so severely that it protruded through the flesh. The danger from infection has passed and the bone is healing properly his attending physician

MICHIGAN FARM SITUATION GOOD

State College Report Compares It with Conditions in Other States.

LOWER COSTS INDICATED

Farmer Will Be Able to Buy Labor, Fertilizer, Materials More Cheaply.

East Lansing, March 11.—(P)—The Michigan farmer today was promised an economic future of greater security than that of his country cousin in other states and his city relative dependant on industry for his wage income.

The promise was made in a cautious annual agricultural outlook report published at Michigan State college through the cooperation of seven departments. No substantial improvement in the general agricultural price situation was predicted for 1939.

Has Economic Advantage

Easy access of Michigan farmers to important markets and higher prices for farm commodities here in comparison with the stable products of other areas bring a more radiant outlook in Michigan than elsewhere, the report declared. The absence of unemployment as an experience for the farm owner and the expectancy that he will be the first to make an economic come-back combine to give him an economic advantage over the city resident, the college experts said.

"At least farmers are not faced with the unemployment problem which is causing acute distress in the homes of many families in our larger cities," the report pointed out. "Furthermore, as farmers were the first to feel the effects of the business depression, they should be the first to benefit from business recovery."

Price Decline Not Severe

Seventy-five percent of Michigan's farm sales are in dairy, poultry, livestock, fruit and vegetable commodities, with a price in 1931 that was 96 percent of the pre-war level compared with 63 percent for grains and cotton.

An attitude of leniency toward the farmer in the payment of his debts was urged in the report. The farmer was advised to transact his business on a cash basis as much as possible.

Farm wages promise to be lower than at any time since the pre-war period, according to the report. The average monthly farm wage with board in January had declined to $16.50 compared with $25 the same date in 1931 and $38.50 in 1930. The substitution of machinery for labor is expected to be retarded by this continued decline.

Lower fertilizer and building costs to the farmer are indicated during the year.

No further substantial declines

MARCH FURNITURE SALES HEAVY IN CITY

A furniture market depressed to the lowest levels in history has resulted in hundreds of Battle Creek homes acquiring new and attractive suites at painless prices. March was a heavy business month for the local furniture dealers. Above is shown one of the Jury-Rowe's trucks making deliveries in its "Mighty March" sale.

In land values are expected. The uncertainty of the stock and bond markets has turned a number of investors to farm lands, according to the report. With land prices at a low level and tax reductions considered probable the year is regarded by the college experts as a favorable time to start farming on good land.

SAYS TOWNS DISLIKE 'PROBLEM PICTURES'

Detroit, March 11.—(P)—W. L. Steffes, president of the Allied Independent Picture Theater association, believes that the nation's small towns are tiring of sophisticated "problem pictures."

Addressing 600 members of the association at their convention at the Hotel Statler here yesterday Mr. Steffes asserted that selection of wholesome pictures would do much to help the picture industry to return to financial stability.

"Don't try to bring Broadway to Main street," he said.

SERVICES ARE HELD

(Special to the Enquirer-News)

Sturgis, March 11.—Funeral services were held here this afternoon for Mrs. Henrietta L. Boughton, 86, a resident here for 42 years. She died Tuesday afternoon. Four children survive.

WETS CONTINUE LEAD OF 3-TO-1 OVER DRYS

Literary Digest's Poll Shows Referendum Ballots Received From 38 States.

The wets continue to poll more than three to one over the drys with initial returns from 14 more states swelling the total vote to over two million in the Literary Digest's nation-wide prohibition poll this week.

A total of 2,063,111 ballots is reported received from 38 states and the District of Columbia, of which 468,335, or 22.66 percent favor continuance of the 18th amendment and 1,574,776 or 76.34 percent, vote for repeal.

The dry vote records a third consecutive gain over the wet vote this week, from 22.61 percent to 23.66 percent of the total. In the first returns of this "stray" referendum the drys polled 15.85 percent.

Every southern state so far reported shows a wet majority.

Kansas is the only state voting dry in this current report with a percentage of 52.58 for prohibition. Fourteen states reporting first returns this week include Alabama, California, Colorado, Delaware, Florida, Kentucky, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Oregon, Texas, Washington, and Wisconsin, besides the District of Columbia.

Of this new contingent, Oklahoma is the driest state tabulated with a 45.46 percent sentiment for prohibition and Wisconsin registers the wettest returns with 82.94 percent of its total vote for repeal.

Arkansas rises to second place in the dry column with a percentage of 48.67 in favor of the 18th amendment and Tennessee drops to third place with a dry vote of 47.31 percent.

New York and New Jersey continue to lead as first and second in the wet column but show a slight gain in dry sentiment.

California has the largest wet vote of the Pacific coast states with 77.52 percent for repeal, while Oregon votes 71.25 percent and Washington 69.95 percent against prohibition.

CAPE-TO-CAIRO PLANE ASSISTED BY CAMELS

Cairo, Egypt, March 11.—(P)—The camel, ancient ship of the desert, came to the rescue of the Cape-to-Cairo air mail plane Wednesday when it was forced down among the rocky hills south of Wadihalla.

Camels were loaded with cans of gasoline and rushed to the stranded plane, which then was able to continue on with its passengers and mail.

MORE SHAFTS HURLED AT DRAMATIC CRITICS

Storm Stirred Up in House Committee Shows Few Indications of Abating.

Washington, March 11.—(P)—A girl producer, and a playwright, came before the house patents committee Thursday to join Chairman Sirovich in criticizing the dramatic critics.

The girl, Peggy Fears, producer of Girl of Manhattan, said that John Anderson, a critic for the New York Journal, had devoted most of his review of her show to an attack on Sirovich.

"I got the idea Dr. Sirovich was my star performer," she said. Miss Fears said Mayor Walker had seen her play and enjoyed it.

Sirovich suggested it might be a good idea to have the mayor review some plays.

"That would be fine," she said. "He's the most human man in New York."

Hatcher Hughes, the playwright whose Hellbent for Heaven won a Pulitzer prize, said the play was called by the critics one of the most hopeless, terrible and absurd plays ever written.

He suggested that dramatic criticisms be not printed on the morning after the play, but withheld until after more deliberate judgment.

WANTED A MILLIONAIRE. BUT IT WAS GENE MARKEY

Picture Now Showing at Bijou Filmed in Mingling of Real and Studio Romance.

It was while working on the picture, She Wanted a Millionaire, which is now showing at the Bijou theater, that Joan Bennett, star of the picture, announced her engagement to Gene Markey, former Battle Creek boy. Mr. Markey may not be a millionaire but he is one of Hollywood's highest priced scenario writers.

Five real life romances are said to have been enacted by members of the cast for the picture during its filming. Besides Miss Bennett members of the cast succumbing to the wiles of cupid during the making of the picture were James Kirkwood, who returned to the studio one day with a new bride, Miss Beatrice Powers, who is seen in the beauty contest of the picture; Donald Dillaway, who announced his engagement to Dorothy Jordan, and Una Merkel, who spent most of one morning introducing her new husband to the cast.

Miss Bennett's fiancé is a graduate of Battle Creek Central high school.

TO OPEN REAL ESTATE AND INSURANCE OFFICE

C. L. ULRICH

C. L. Ulrich who has been associated with the Central National Bank & Trust Co. as rental agent and building manager of the Central National tower has resigned for the purpose of establishing a general real estate and insurance business.

During the construction of the Central National tower Mr. Ulrich conducted the rental department and upon its completion became building manager.

Prior to assuming duties at the Central National tower Mr. Ulrich was associated with the J. B. Allen Co., local realtors for a period of four years during which time Mr. Ulrich was in charge of the business property and leasing department. Several large leases and sales of property in the business district were consummated.

Mr. Ulrich will open offices at 418 Post building on March 15 under the name of C. L. Ulrich Co.

A new deep-sea diving mask is filled with synthetic air.

CITY IN FAVOR OF LOCAL BUS FIRM

Mayor Pentz Says, However, Motor Transit Co. Must Meet Competition.

The attitude of city officials on the proposal for granting a bus company a franchise in Battle Creek as expressed by Mayor Pentz, is favorable to the Battle Creek Motor Transit Co. This attitude, the mayor says, is due to the fact that the Motor Transit Co. is a local concern, with the same president, John F. Collins, as the Battle Creek Transportation Co. which operates the city's street cars. The mayor said, however, that the transit company would have to meet the competition of any other bus companies in the matter of a franchise. The Motor Transit Co. was formed in anticipation of receiving the bus franchise but has no equipment as yet.

The city commission, mayor and city attorney now constitute the committee studying the bus proposition, but later six other persons, not office holders, will be added to the committee. Complete information on bus operations will be acquired from other cities before the outsiders are added.

A query regarding the cost to the street car company of maintaining railroad crossing in Battle Creek has brought the reply from J. F. Collins, president of the transportation company, that the concern spends approximately $10,000 for crossing upkeep each year.

Six hundred and forty thousand dollars is the amount you and your neighbors spend in your own local stores in a single day according to the latest government reports. Whatever amount was your share, it represents a great deal more time and trouble that can be saved if you use the advertisements in this newspaper regularly as a shopping guide. That's what those advertisements are for. Use them.

THE ENQUIRER AND NEWS
THE NEWSPAPER OF BATTLE CREEK

Most men are pretty good about helping their women-folk with the family shopping. The majority of them are really glad to help. They know it's a pretty tough job for a woman, wangling a car through Saturday afternoon traffic.

And to most of them, that's nothing compared to the actual shopping—and they're mighty proud of the feminine courage that can plunge into the midst of a Saturday shopping crowd without a tremor.

It's the waiting that gets them upset once in a while. They know they couldn't possibly do a real shopping job in twice the time, but, after all, a man does feel a bit futile, decorating an empty car at the curb.

Now here's a suggestion. Next time you scheme to get John to take you shopping, go through the advertisements in your family newspaper first. Go through them with your shopping list close at hand. Check off on your list the stores that advertise the things you want. You'll find a good many items that you'll know just where to go for. Try it, and you'll find, as hundreds of others have, that it pays to ad-shop before you window-shop.

EARNINGS HOLD CLOSE TO 1930

General Foods Corp. Shows Only 4.88 Percent Decline in Annual Report.

Earnings of the General Foods Corp. for 1931 declined only 4.88 percent below those of 1930, the concern's annual report showed today, an Associated Press dispatch from New York said.

Net profits were $18,153,719, equivalent to $4.44 a share on 2,275,667 shares, against $19,085,595, or $5.83 a share on 3,206,948 outstanding shares in 1930.

The balance sheet reveals an improved liquid position. Current assets at the end of 1931 totalled $35,787,720 compared with $34,063,948 at the end of 1930. Current liabilities aggregated $5,608,548 against $6,368,073.

The report shows that, despite lower prices, accounts receivable from customers were higher than at the end of 1930, standing at $4,742,208 against $4,616,961. This was attributed to slower collections due to business conditions.

There was a decrease in inventories from $17,702,875 in 1930 to $15,829,292 in 1931. This, it was said, reflected lower commodity prices.

CHARGES FARM BOARD WORKS WITH PACKERS

Head of Chicago Livestock Exchange Declares It is Depressing Prices.

Washington, March 11.—(AP)—Charles Wilson, president of the Chicago livestock exchange, told the house agriculture committee Thursday that the farm board "is working hand in hand with the packers to depress prices."

Wilson headed a group of livestock dealers from Denver, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Louis and St. Joseph, Missouri, who protested livestock activities of the board.

As the first witness, he said: "Cooperative marketing is 25 years old. The exchanges are handling 85 percent of the cooperative business, that is, as distinguished from the politically controlled and politically dominated cooperatives set up by the farm board. Our customers have made no complaint."

"Farm board agencies have been a disrupting influence and have done the producers incalculable damage. We are for an open market. The farm board trends toward monopoly. We oppose manipulation. The farm board has promised the American people to manipulate prices."

"They are endeavoring to drive us out. They have adopted bulldozing tactics to get the business."

"The board has used its funds to depress the price of hogs through direct marketing. By their direct marketing program the price on hogs has dropped out of line about $5 a head in the last eight months."

The auto output for 1931 was 2,389,730 vehicles.

Daring Women Are Persuaded To Flee Bombs

Two women who have been visitors to Battle Creek and are known here have finally been persuaded to quit dodging machine gun bullets and bombs catered from airplanes and return to the comparative safety of Shanghai.

They are Dr. Ross W. Palmberg and Dr. Grace I. Crandall, both of Milton, Wis., who have been braving the brunt of the Chinese-Japanese strife in the vicinity of Luho to carry on a Seventh Day Baptist hospital and mission located there. Dr. Crandall has been connected with the hospital and Dr. Palmberg has been directing an industrial mission-ary.

Though both women have been in constant peril since hostilities reached major proportions, the city of Luho being the point where the Japanese disembarked troops in attempt to cut the Chinese lines from the rear, they would not leave their post. News dispatches reported that they finally had been persuaded by friends to return to Shanghai. The dispatch quoted Dr. Palmberg as saying: "We were thoroughly frightened. The planes came very low overhead and the rat-tat-tat of the machine guns was nerve wracking in the extreme."

Dr. Palmberg was last a visitor in Battle Creek about a year ago and while here spoke at the Sanitarium and to several gatherings throughout the city. Both Dr. Palmberg and Dr. Crandall are personal friends of the Rev. Henry N. Jordan, elder of the Seventh Day Baptist church and Sanitarium chaplain. He said this morning that he was greatly relieved that the missionaries had finally been persuaded to evacuate the danger zone.

A CUPFUL OF HILLS BROS COFFEE PROVES THAT CONTROLLED ROASTING MAKES A FINER FLAVOR

As the accuracy of the hour-glass depends upon an even, continuous flow . . . a little at a time . . . so the uniform flavor of Hills Bros. Coffee is produced by Controlled Roasting—the patented process that roasts evenly, continuously . . . "a little at a time."

Perfect roasting by Hills Bros' patented process always develops the perfect flavor of the coffee-berries

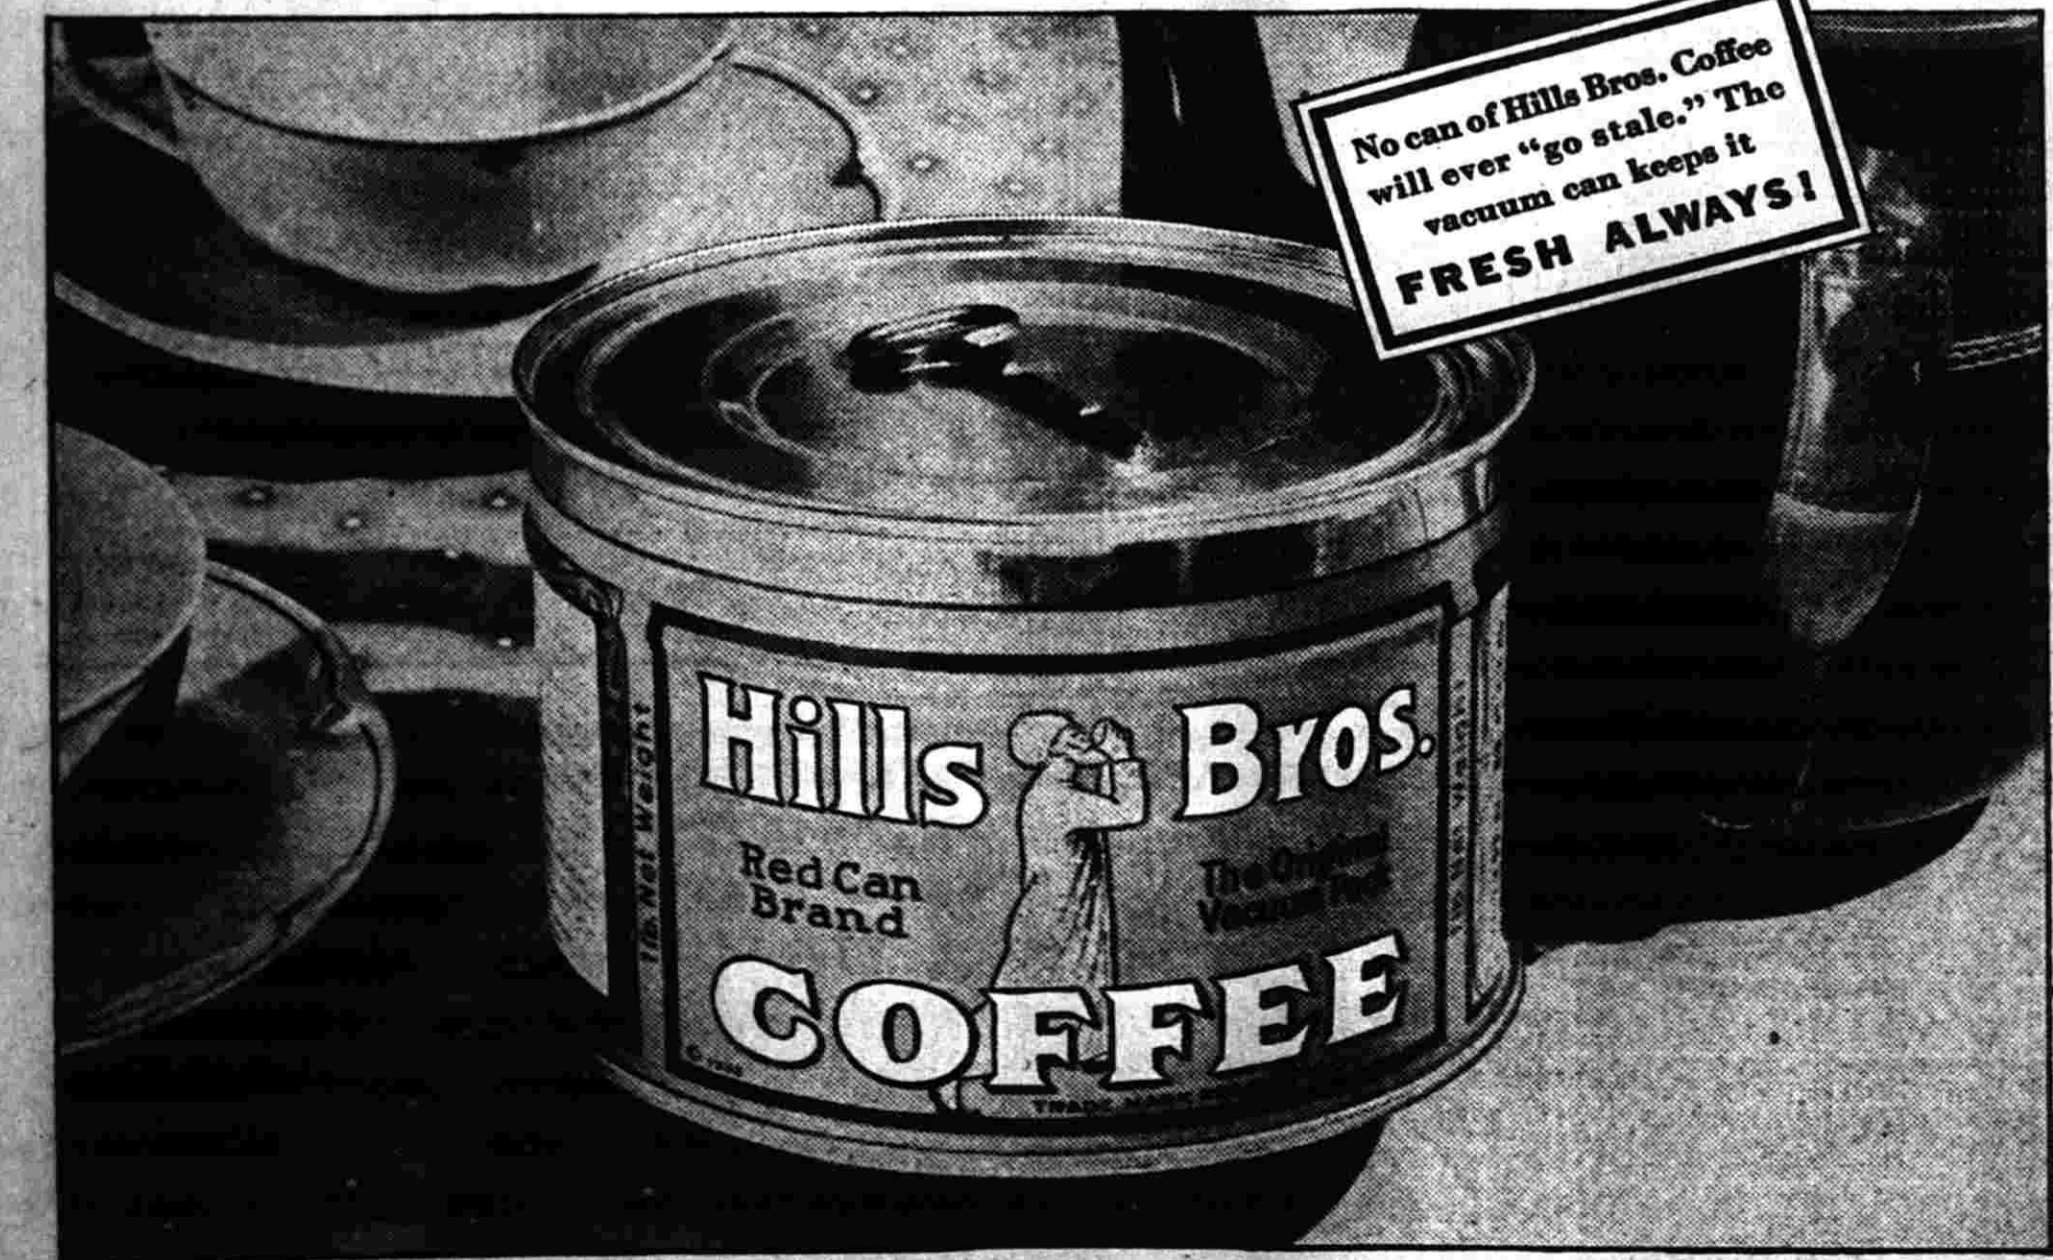

Roasts "a little at a time" instead of in bulk

Roasting, you know, is one of the most important things that takes place in the production of coffee. For it really influences the flavor. Ordinary coffees are roasted in bulk—several hundred pounds at a time. Such big batches make accurate roasting difficult. Sometimes the coffee is underdone; other times overdone. Either affects the flavor.

Instead of roasting in bulk, Hills Bros. roast a little at a time . . . as the coffee flows evenly, continuously through the roasters. It is called Controlled Roasting, invented and patented by Hills Bros. Every berry is done to the perfect degree. Naturally, a perfect roast gives the perfect flavor of coffee! And it never varies.

Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum cans, and can't go stale. The vacuum process of packing coffee is the only method that fully preserves coffee freshness—the air is removed from the can and kept out. It was originated by Hills Bros. over thirty years ago. There is no magic about a vacuum can—it will not make poor coffee good, but it will keep good coffee fresh.

Lift a steaming, invigorating cup of Hills Bros. Coffee to your lips. Sip, that taste-thrilling flavor. Prove to yourself that Controlled Roasting does make better coffee! Order some today. Ask for it by name, and look for the Arab trade-mark on the can.

President of German Republic Addresses Nation Over Radio Last Night.

IS DUTY TO FATHERLAND

Outlines Reasons Why He is Candidate for Reelection At Polls Sunday.

Berlin, March 11.—(AP)—In the first and only speech he has made in the presidential campaign which ends on Sunday, President von Hindenburg appealed last night to the German people for support as a non-partisan, non-political candidate.

The speech was broadcast from his study and re-broadcast in the United States. He justified the course he has followed in the last seven years as head of the nation, and asserted that he consented to run again only after he had convinced himself that it was his duty to the nation.

Reasons for Candidacy

"When seven years ago I was first approached with a request to accept Germany's highest office I intentionally avoided addressing meetings of party aspect, and have therefore spoken only once in a nation-wide broadcast," said the president.

"Now that the presidency has been offered to me a second time I would have preferred to hold wholly aloof in the electoral campaign.

"Developments, however, have compelled me to emerge from retirement to address the whole German nation over the radio so that all shall hear from my lips why I have accepted a new candidacy.

"At the same time I wish in this speech to make it clear that I do not propose to leave unanswered the untruths recently spread about me.

"Therefore I will not deliver a party-political-program speech because I do not see the necessity for it. My life and work tell you more about my efforts and aims than words can tell.

Is Fulfilling Duty

"If, after serious reflection, I decided to present myself for reelection, it was in the consciousness of fulfilling a duty to my country.

had I refused, the danger would have arisen that, owing to serious party differences, owing especially to dissension among the rightists, the radical rightists candidate or one of the radical lefts would be elected on the second ballot.

"Election of a party man representing one-sided extremist views, who would consequently have the majority of the people against him, would expose the fatherland to serious misadventures whose outcome would be incalculable.

"Duty commanded me to prevent this.

"I was fully aware that my resolve would be misunderstood by part of my old electors, among whom also are many old comrades, and that accordingly I would encounter hostility.

"But I would rather suffer misunderstanding and personal attack than to see our people which has borne so many troubles in the last fifteen years dragged before my eyes into fresh internal strife.

Willing to Continue

"To save Germany from that fate, to give it a peaceful interval during which to solve the great problems at home and abroad, I am willing to continue in office if I am reelected.

"Certain political quarters have interpreted my decision to stand again in a different light. Inaccuracies, if not downright lies, have been circulated about me. In that connection I want to say this: "I have taken my candidacy at the hands of the left, or from a Black-Red coalition.

"That is false. The candidacy was offered me by all classes and all conditions of the German people; by a large part of my old supporters and by many who in 1925 voted for others.

"The first attempts to secure my consent to run again came from the Rightist groups and they were joined by other parties and associations. I consented to run only after satisfying myself that outside of the individual party affiliations, wide sections of all Germany desired me to continue in office.

"I would have refused to be the candidate of any party or group just as I have refused to accept conditions and obligations.

Duty to Fatherland

"But to be the candidate of the German nation on a non-party basis and as such to oppose those who merely stand for party interests—that I conceive to be my duty to the Fatherland.

"Thus if I am reelected, I shall owe responsibility only to my God, my conscience and my Fatherland. Thus can I take office as trustee for the nation."

The president then discussed the signing of the Young plan and the emergency decrees with their consequent burdens on the German people and of the political surrender for last summer as the price of financial relief.

Acting, he said, on the military principle that a mistake in the choice of means is less reprehensible than doing nothing, he had decided upon the course of the German nation with a heavy heart and believed now that many of the measures could be improved upon.

"But" he concluded "no critic can deny that my motives were animated by fervent love of country and an ardent determination to fight for Germany's freedom. Even the loudest clamors must admit that in those difficult decisions I acted as a free agent on my own personal responsibility."

Daane of Grand Rapids was officially nominated for a post on the state board of agriculture at the republican convention in Kalamazoo last week, though A. J. Rogers of Beulah secured the most votes. . . . Willard Hyatt of Burlington had his tombstone engraved eight years ago by William White of Battle Creek with the inscription, "Born 1854—Died 1934" and he is still living, although in 1934 he will be 80 years old and expects to die then. . . . While Michigan is just beginning to recover from the snow storm yesterday, more snow is predicted for the end of the week, and a notation is made of the conditions of the various highways in the state. . . . A consolidated high school, the second in Barry county, will be built for the Prairieville and Delton sections of the county by the Kellogg Foundation. About 20 small schools will be consolidated, and the total cost will be about $90,000.

TEN YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of the Enquirer and News of Saturday, March 11, 1922.)—John A. The home of Dr. and Mrs. S. R. ### TWENTY YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of the Battle Creek Enquirer of Monday, March 11, 1912.)—A five percent increase in wages for 150,000 cotton and woolen mill operatives is expected to take place by April 1 among the Fall River manufacturers and others in Southern New England. . . . Gov. Four persons suffered broken arms today from the treacherous footing. Miss Maude Eppler, 224 West Main; Mrs. Charles Armitage, 116 Vale; James Caldwell of Charlotte who was here on business; and Mrs. John Wheeler, 23 Park. . . . Members of the Calhoun County Agricultural society meeting in Marshall heard reports from the state fair association that few fairs made money during the past year and many may raise the admission from 25c to 35c.

MAN MAY BE CLEARED IN BOMB DEATH PLOT

Federal Authorities Say They Are Satisfied Suspect Is Innocent of Charge.

Chicago, March 11.—(AP)—Federal authorities have announced they are satisfied Columbo Boeri, alias Boris, had nothing to do with a national bomb death plot against prominent fascists in American and Italian government officials in which two postoffice clerks and a dynamite expert were killed at Easton, Pa., in December.

Boeri was arrested Tuesday and Murray W. Garson, special assistant to the secretary of labor, said at the time he was satisfied Boeri was the man responsible for the plot. Last night postoffice inspectors said they believed Boeri was innocent.

The authorities said the department of labor would probably institute deportation proceedings against Boeri, who was held under $100,000 bond.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE RATIO STILL CONSTANT

Lansing, March 11.—(AP)—The depression or something caused a decrease in divorces last year, but it also produced a corresponding drop in marriage so the ratio between the two remained about the same, according to a report by Dr. G. C. Slemmons, state health commissioner. There was one divorce for every 3.04 marriages.

The number of divorces last year was 9,507, as compared with 10,630 in 1930, but marriages dropped from 29,482 in 1930 to 28,856 in 1931.

GAMES AID CHARITY

Lansing, March 11.—(AP)—The final payment of the state's share of the proceeds of the Big Ten charity football games held last fall was received by Governor Brucker Thursday for welfare relief work. The check was for $3,932. This brought the total for Michigan to $21,908.

SEEKS TO SAVE HER

Phoenix, Ariz., March 11.—(AP)—The Rev. H. J. McGinnell, 76-year-old father of Winnie Bush Udd, is circulating petitions asking that her sentence of death for the murder of Agnes Anne Le Rol be commuted to life imprisonment.

CHINA ADAMANT THAT JAPS WITHDRAW MEN

(Continued from Page One.) Their forces during the fighting between February 28 and March 3 were at least 10,000. The greater portion of these were deaths, they said.

Civilian casualties also were heavy, they said, in towns along the battleline. These would also run into thousands, they said.

There were countless cases where individuals and entire families vanished. Most of the Chinese losses, the military officials said, resulted from Japanese artillery shells and aerial bombs. The terrific blasting obliterated completely the Chinese artillery positions and trenches, jumbling men and equipment in a mass of wreckage and torn humanity. It was estimated that at least 500 Chinese coolies who were working behind the Chinese lines carrying ammunition and digging trenches perished.

The Chinese 88th division, which held the lines in the vicinity of Miaochungchen, was said to have suffered the heaviest casualties, having lost one-third of its strength before it was forced to retreat.

NEW HAMPSHIRE VOTE DISCUSSED

Mark Sullivan Interprets It As Greatly Increasing Roosevelt's Strength.

WATCHES NORTH DAKOTA

Victory There Next Week Will Further Enhance Prestige Of Candidate.

BY MARK SULLIVAN

Washington, March 11.—If Roosevelt's victory in conservative New Hampshire this week should be followed next week by a victory in radical North Dakota that outcome would still further enhance his prestige. The Roosevelt managers are making an extremely earnest effort to carry North Dakota. About a week ago a call came from the west to the effect that there was real danger of North Dakota being carried by Roosevelt's only opponent in that state, Governor "Alfalfa Bill" Murray of Oklahoma. An ardent plea was made for Roosevelt speakers. As part of the response to this plea, radical democratic Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana is now on his way from Washington to North Dakota to try to persuade the voters of that state that Roosevelt is, from their point of view, the better candidate than Murray, or at least the more available candidate.

Result A Surprise

Political leaders of both parties were surprised and impressed by the degree of Governor Roosevelt's victory over ex-Governor Smith in the New Hampshire democratic primaries. They think it has the effect of encouragement for Governor Roosevelt to an extent far beyond the slight delegates involved. All over the country little local party leaders and workers have been in suspense since ex-Governor Smith entered the situation on February 8 and have been watching New Hampshire for a clue to the consequence of Smith's entry. These local leaders and workers are likely now to take it for granted either that Roosevelt is stronger than Smith, or else that Smith and his friends are too indifferent to make a real fight. In either event, the local leaders and workers who have not yet taken sides are apt now to commit themselves to Roosevelt.

Must Make Decision

As respects ex-Governor Smith, it is felt that the outcome in New Hampshire puts it up to him and his friends to decide whether, having entered the situation at all, he had better not enter it more aggressively. Some of the politicians have held, from the moment Smith took a hand, that there is no such thing practicable as being in a presidential race in the qualified way in which Governor Smith's announcement described his attitude. As they put it, "Smith is either in the race or not in it, and if he is in, he will be obliged to go all the way in."

It is a fact that Smith's chances of getting delegates are much reduced by the feeling, even among his most earnest partisans, that he is not a candidate in a sense of either wanting or being likely actually to get the nomination. It is not easy to get voters to the polls, even voters as loyal as ex-Governor Smith's following, merely for the limited purpose of giving their leader power in the convention.

Is Barometer of East

The New Hampshire result has significance as a barometer of the other eastern states and also will have a direct effect on those states. It will have influence adverse to Smith and favorable to Roosevelt in Massachusetts and even more in Pennsylvania. With knowledge of the New Hampshire result one would say that Roosevelt would now be likely to get two thirds to three fourths of the delegates from Pennsylvania. Throughout all the east, since Smith is practically the only opponent of Roosevelt in this territory, Roosevelt's chances are decidedly improved.

There is significance in the comparative slightness of the vote cast in New Hampshire on Tuesday. The total was approximately less than 25,000. The total democratic vote in New Hampshire in the presidential election in 1928 was 80,175. Apparently less than one out of three democrats went to the polls, although the contest had been vigorous. To put it another way, only about 18 percent of the total democratic vote in New Hampshire went to the primaries to vote for Roosevelt. This bears out what is commonly believed, namely, that the democratic contest is principally an affair of the local leaders and local party organizations and has not engaged any ardent interest on the part of the rank and file of democratic voters. This condition favors Roosevelt. Local leaders and local organizations in many parts of the country are now likely to do what they did in New Hampshire. They are likely to take it for granted that Roosevelt is much in the lead and act accordingly.

Smith Backers Uncertain

To look at the New Hampshire figures in yet another way, less than one out of ten of those who voted for Smith in 1928 went to the polls for him on Tuesday. This argues lack of belief on their part that Smith is a candidate in the sense of earnestly wanting the nomination.

SEES TREATY DELAY

Ottawa, March 11.—(P)—Premier Bennett announced in the house of commons Thursday that the probability is that no treaty will be concluded between Canada and the United States for construction of the St. Lawrence Waterway project before the Easter recess.

KAY FRANCIS' HERO TAKES VILLAIN ROLE IN HER NEW PICTURE

When Kay Francis was a screen fan, long before she thought of becoming an actress, one of her "heroes" was a tall young man with the old Kalem Company.

This same actor, Earle Foxe, plays a villainous role in support of Miss Francis and Frederic March for the Paramount comedy romance, Strangers in Love, showing at the Regent theater.

Foxe switched from hero to "menace" characterizations several years ago. He alternates between acting and serving as president and general policy founder of one of the largest private military academies in the west, located in Southern California.

Foxe, who appeared in Ladies of the Big House, is two inches over six feet tall and weighs only ten pounds under the double century mark. He is the father of a thirteen-year-old boy.

NEW GIRL OF WEST IS SEEN IN PICTURE SHOWING AT STRAND

Present-day life on the Mexican border, into which enter the suave and coldly-calculating sophisticates of the drawing room, as opposed to the wild, lawless western era, forms the background of George O'Brien's latest production, The Gay Caballero, which opens today at the Strand theater.

The story is drawn around a college graduate who leaves the football field to take up life in the west at the point where his father left off. His experiences include a number of surprises, not the least of which is discovering that the present-day girl of the west is a college girl, nimble with languages and the social amenities, and can bear her own with any man—anywhere.

Conchita Montenegro, as the fiery daughter of Spain who is responsible for this important item of O'Brien's education, is the heroine of the romance that motivates the stirring plot. Her love for O'Brien is the spark that kindles the conflict between the factions headed by her uncle, C. Henry Gordon, on the one hand, and Victor McLaglen on the other. A conflict that tears apart firm friendships and embroils the whole region in a bitter feud before the activities of El Coyote—mysterious Robin Hood of the border—brings peace to the countryside and happiness to the lovers.

JOAN BENNETT RETURNS TO SCREEN IN FILM, SHE WANTED A MILLIONAIRE

Joan Bennett's triumphant return to the screen after a forced retirement of six months following her serious accident of last summer will be in the nature of a celebration at the Bijou theater today. She wanted a Millionaire, was the Fox picture in which she was working when thrown from a horse.

At the time of the accident Miss Bennett was fairly deluged with letters of commendation from the audience and wishes for a speedy recovery from fans all over the country, which greatly alleviated the gravity and painfulness of her injury and it may be of interest to these same fans to know that upon her recovery, Miss Bennett again mounted the same horse and pluckily rode him past the same hooded camera which caused the animal to rear and throw her some months before.

Despite the elapse of several months between the start and finish of the picture advance reports are to the effect that it is impossible to note the slightest difference in pace or style of Miss Bennett's portrayal of the beauty prize winning heroine, which is a tribute to the delightful star's dramatic ability.

The same tribute must in justice be paid to the other members of the cast, which includes Una Merkel, James Kirkwood and Dorothy Peterson as well as Miss Bennett's costar, Spencer Tracy, for they, too, were compelled to lay aside their work and then pick it up again after the long interim.

Briefly, the story concerns the adventures of a factory worker in a small town, the role portrayed by Miss Bennett, who enters and wins a beauty contest. This awakens her desire for luxury and after gaining it she discovers that it is a poor substitute for true love.

Marian Nixon and Charles Farrell Form New Team in After Tomorrow

After Tomorrow, the much-heralded emotional drama directed by Frank Borzage and co-starring Charles Farrell and Marian Nixon, reaches the screen of the Post theater today.

Adapted to the screen by Sonya Levron from the John Golden and Hugh Stange stage success, it presents the drama of two everyday youngsters who want to get married but cannot because of their dependent families.

The locale of the story is New York city where hundreds of parallel cases may be found every day, just as in Seattle or Des Moines. Working in their lowly office positions, the sweethearts save their nickels and dimes in a marriage fund which soon becomes known as the M. F. This, they hope, will swell into a sum large enough to finance their marriage, sometime in the bright future.—After Tomorrow.

But something always happens to their savings. Minna Campbell, as Farrell's mother, has a monthly habit of calling on the fund to help with her extravagant bills contracted for cheap finery. Her love affair with a boarder in the house, played by William Pawley, is another of her secret vices.

Farrell's mother, the comical M. F. Piper of the drama, portrayed by

A FAST TRIP ACROSS ASIA

V.—FLYING OVER BURMA

India was the home of the Buddha, but only one person out of 25 in India belongs to the Buddhist faith. Only one out of 65 is a Christian. Most of the rest follow the Hindu or Mohammedan faiths.

It is a good thing we are in an airplane. If we were trying to cut through the jungles of Burma, on foot, we should have a hard time. There are bamboo thickets in the jungles which a person could not push his way through. The Wabo bamboo in Burma has stalks from 7 to 10 inches thick and reaches a height of from 140 to 150 feet.

The wilds of Burma contain elephants, rhinos, tigers, leopards, bears, apes and monkeys. Crocodiles live in the rivers, and a person must be careful about taking a swim or else he may get himself in a tight place.

Now comes the weekend, so we shall pause in Rangoon, capital of Burma. On Monday we shall renew our flight across Asia.

MORE CHANGES LIKELY IN STEEL CORPORATION

New President is Announced But Chairmanship of Board is Still in Doubt.

New York, March 11.—(P)—While a steel maker who was once a telegrapher got ready today to take over the presidency of the United States Steel corp., there were reports of another coming change in the gigantic concern's executive personnel.

William A. Irvin, 59, vice president of the company, was announced Wednesday as the successor to President James A. Farrell, veteran who retires next April under the corporation's retirement plan. The selection was announced by Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee.

The announcement did not say that Mr. Irvin would become chief executive officer, a title which Mr. Farrell holds in addition to that of president. The New York Times understands Mr. Taylor eventually will become chairman of the board, succeeding J. P. Morgan, who is unable to devote more than a part of his time to the steel concern.

Times says, "It is likely that Mr. Taylor will become in a full sense the successor to the late Elbert H. Gary, who was chairman of the board, chairman of the finance committee and chief executive officer."

Mr. Irvin, once a telegrapher for the Pennsylvania railroad, was born at Indiana, Pa., and has been in the iron and steel business for 36 years.

CHICAGO ELECTRICIANS ACCEPT CUTS IN WAGES

Chicago, March 11.—(P)—Voluntary wage reductions ranging from 12 1-2 to 26 percent had been accepted Thursday by 5,200 union electrical workers, effective on construction work under consideration after March 9. The old scale was $13.60 and the workers agreed to pay of $12 a day for new work and $10 for remodeling jobs. Building trades unions recently took a 20 percent cut.

FIVE ESCAPE FRAMES
Mt. Pleasant, Mich., March 11.—(P)—Two business buildings were destroyed Thursday in a fire which swept part of a block in downtown Mt. Pleasant. Five persons living on the second floor of one of the buildings escaped without injury. The cause of the fire was undetermined. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

EX-PREMIER OF ITALY VICTIM OF INFLUENZA

Paola Boselli, War-Time Leader, Dies Thursday at Age Of 93 in Rome.

Rome, March 11.—(P)—Paolo Boselli, war-time premier of Italy, died Thursday at the age of 93.

He was prime minister in 1916 and 1917 but was forced out as a result of the Italian defeat at Caporetto in October, 1917.

Death resulted from influenza. His political career began in 1888 and he held cabinet posts under half a dozen premiers. He continued active in politics until his last illness. In 1921, as a fascist sympathizer, he was elected to the senate. He was president of the national Dante-Alighieri association, a member of the order of the Anunnziata, and the author of several books.

Now she is BEGINNING TO LIVE

An appetizing cereal, bringing "bulk" and Vitamin B, stopped the source of those dull headaches, and premature wrinkles

SHE had been a sufferer from constipation for many years. It sapped her enthusiasm and energy, took the sparkle out of her eyes, and made her skin sallow.

Every night she dosed herself with pills and drugs — in bigger and bigger quantities as time went on. They gave only temporary relief. Then, fortunately, she read an advertisement about Kellogg's ALL-BRAN (just as you are doing now).

She tried this delicious cereal. The results were surprising. She found she had a lot more energy at the end of a day. Her skin lost its sallow hue. Her drabness departed. Her friends discovered in her a new and colorful personality.

How could so simple a thing as eating a cereal effect this great change? Here's why. ALL-BRAN brings two things that check common constipation. "Bulk" which exercises the intestines. Vitamin B which helps give them tone. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

This "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar in action to that of lettuce. Inside the body, it absorbs moisture, and becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. Try two table-spoonfuls daily. If you suffer from intestinal trouble not relieved this way, consult your doctor.

Special cooking processes make ALL-BRAN finer, softer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming. Equally tasty as a cereal with milk or cream, or cooked into fluffy bran muffins, breads, omelets, waffles, etc. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

The dime-a-dance girl.

BY JOAN CLAYTON

Beautiful ELLEN ROSSITER, a singer in Barclay's Department Store, lives with her mother, MOLLY ROSSITER, her elder sister, MYRA, and her young brother, MIKE. The two girls support the family. Molly foolishly spends money saved to pay the rent. STEVEN BARCLAY, a man of 37 and Ellen's employer, lends her an evening dress so she can secure a job dancing nights at Dreamland. At the dance hall she meets fascinating LARRY HARROWGATE, an artist, and accepts an engagement for ten next day. She breaks this date when she learns that Larry is engaged to ELIZABETH BOWEN, a debutante. However, when he comes to Dreamland again demanding an explanation, she cannot resist his charm. The makes a date with him for Sunday.

Her mother and sister favor Barclay's suit. Myra has been working for nine years to BERT ARMSTRONG but they lack money to marry. The two sisters talk together Sunday morning when Molly raps on the door to say someone wants to speak with her on a neighbor's phone. Ellen is disturbed. She thinks Barclay is calling her.

CHAPTER XI
 Troubles of the heart were by no means uncommon at Dreamland. Ellen had no idea that misery was evident in her face or bearing, but the moment she entered the crowded, chattering dressing room, little Tony spied it out. She came over to where Ellen was dressing.

"What's eating you?" she demanded in a tone that blended curiosity and sympathy.

"Nothing," Ellen replied spiritlessly, as she kicked off her street shoes.

"Meaning everything," the other hazarded shrewdly.

"Please don't, Tony."

After a long, searching look Tony disappeared into the bathroom. Ellen stepped into the chiffon dress, adjusted the cunning little jacket and walked out of the dressing room.

She sat down at her table. One by one the other girls straggled to their positions. The orchestra tuned up, struck into the first dance of the evening. Business had begun at Dreamland. It was a dull evening. Ellen looked around in a kind of sickness. She felt listless and depressed, tired of herself, tired of life.

After a while she began tracing idle patterns traced by her red-velvet fingers became more definite. "Larry," she scratched on the cloth and then "Larry Harrowgate." After that slowly, slowly, "Mrs. Lawrence Harrowgate."

"Well, you're a fine one," said a familiar voice over her shoulder. Ellen's heart gave a great leap. She looked up into Larry's half angry, half laughing eyes.

"I waited for you all afternoon—that is, I really waited more than half an hour," he was saying reproachfully. "Why didn't you come?"

He dropped to the chair opposite. Ellen's breath came in quick, uneven spurts. Her heart hammered oddly. With trembling fingers she rubbed the cloth while he watched, a puzzled frown between his gray eyes.

"Why didn't you come?" he repeated.

"I went to a movie," she answered truthfully. "I didn't notice the time until it was too late."

"Well," he commented, discomfited. A dark flush rose under his tan. "You sorta made me think you loved me," he observed.

"I did," she said faintly.

"You don't like me now?"

"Why shouldn't I?"

"I didn't ask if you should or shouldn't. I asked if you did. Have I done something that has made you change?"

His gray earnest eyes were fixed upon her. She saw that he was genuinely concerned. It was disturbing that he should be like this. She would have understood better, have been better able to rebuff him, had he continued to be flippanant and casual.

"What have I done?"

"Nothing," she faltered. "I went to the hotel to meet you but I got there too late."

There! She had said what she had not meant to say.

"Then everything's all right and you do like me," he summarized, his face lighting.

"Yes."

"That's over!" he said in relief. "Let's dance."

It wasn't over, Ellen knew. She knew that he should have told her he was engaged. But as they glided out to the floor, she knew that engaged or not, philanderer or not,

Larry Harrowgate interested her more than any man she had ever met before.

Sunday morning breakfasts in the Rossiter household were invariably elastic. Mike, as usual, was up and about early. He ate from the kitchen table the prepared cereal and fruit which Ellen or Myra or, more rarely his mother, put out for him the night before. Sometimes he would racket about the small apartment to the despair and fury of the sleepers. Generally, though, he curled up with a book to study. He was one of those youngsters who like studying. He represented the problem of the underprivileged city child. There was no place for him to play except the street and the street was no place for him to play. So he studied too much and his suppressed energy turned readily to nerves and tears.

Molly Rossiter seldom stirred until late afternoon. Mike never disturbed her. Nothing short of fire or flood could disturb her Sunday.

Myra and Ellen usually breakfasted in bed about noon, taking turns preparing the sketchy meal. This morning it was Myra's turn. Already Ellen was awake. She sat up and yawned luxuriously as Myra came in balancing a tray containing fresh raspberries, top milk, underdone toast and coffee that would have been good had it percolated five minutes less.

"Umh!" Ellen sniffed. "I'm hungry."

"I'm afraid I've done the coffee too long again," observed Myra as she set down the tray and pulled up a chair.

"I could eat a leather boot," Ellen declared. She tried to break a piece of toast which bent under her fingers and laughed as she said, "It look almost as if I'd have to. You didn't have the oven hot enough."

"I never do," Myra sighed. "But try some of the raspberries. They should give satisfaction."

"Oh, I should say they do," Ellen poured on milk with a lavish hand and admired the soft, bluish-red of the berries.

"When were you thinking about for this afternoon?" asked Myra through a mouthful of toast.

"Movies? There's a new feature at the Grand, Greta Garbo."

"I've a date," Ellen answered in a voice which she hoped was careless enough.

"Really! With Steven Barclay?"

"Oh no—not him," Myra laughed. She hesitated and said, "It's—it's with Larry. Now wait a minute before you fly into me. I didn't go to the tea, just simply didn't go. But he came to Dreamland last night and it's—well, it's all fixed up for this afternoon."

"Then you think he's not engaged at all?" Myra asked in a worried way.

"I don't know what to think," Ellen confessed. "But anyway I promised to go riding with him this afternoon."

Myra put down her coffee cup. Her face was distressed and disappointed. Ellen serenely went on eating berries.

"But do you think you should do that, Ellen?" Myra persisted unhappily.

"Of course I do," said Ellen airily, "else I shouldn't have said I would."

"But Ellen—"

"Now don't be silly and old-fashioned, Myra," Ellen interrupted. "I'm going out in broad daylight with a man to whom I've been properly introduced. The fact that he's engaged to another girl isn't any of my business. That's his affair, not ours."

"They went on eating in oppressive silence.

"Oh, Myra, can't you understand?" Ellen said suddenly. "I wanted to refuse. You haven't any idea how hard I tried. But all at once I just naturally heard myself accepting."

"Yes, I know how that is," Myra admitted in a troubled tone.

"He's coming here," Ellen went on. "I said he wouldn't trust me to meet him again."

"Then you've shown him any way that you don't care," said Myra, beginning to brighten.

"That's what I care for, honey. I don't want you to be hurt."

"Ellen," Myra said suddenly, flushing faintly. "I've been thinking a lot about you. And the more I've thought the more I know how wrong I was. I don't think Larry Harrowgate is good enough or honorable enough for you no matter what you say. But the reason I was so upset about him in the beginning was because I had so hoped that you and Steven Barclay—"

"Oh stop, Myra."

But Myra went stubbornly on. "I was trying to rob you, honey, of the sweetest thing that can happen to any woman. Just because Bert and I—well, because I often think he's changed and isn't quite the same—"

"He's every bit the same," declared Ellen loyally.

But Myra scarcely heard her.

"Whether he's the same now doesn't matter. Nine years is a long time. But we had the grandest thing in the world together. We loved each other so much that nothing else mattered."

Her cheeks were flushed and her eyes were shining. She looked for a moment an eager 16 instead of a tired 26.

"If I had to start all over again," she continued with unusual passion, "I'd have to love Bert in just the same way. I wouldn't change a thing. I wouldn't want to. I'll have that for always. Ellen, is that the way you feel about your Larry—that nothing else matters?"

"Yes," Ellen whispered.

"I'm sorry, Ellen, and I'm glad too," said Myra, half crying. "I'd hoped you didn't feel that way because I'm afraid that you're going to be hurt. But if you love him like that, it doesn't matter if he hasn't a dime. It doesn't matter if he's engaged to a dozen other girls—anything you'll suffer afterwards will not be too much to pay for that first part of it. I hope and pray that you'll be luckier than I."

"I thought," Ellen said easily, "that I might invite him here to supper. One of my omelets and maybe some of the jelly we put up last vacation."

"I'm afraid mother won't like that," said Myra doubtfully.

At that very moment Molly rapped imperiously on the bedroom door.

"Ellen, Ellen, are you awake?" she called. "Slip on a kimona and run downstairs. There's someone calling for you on Mrs. Clancy's phone."

"Oh help," said Ellen faintly, looking over at Myra. "It must be Mr. Barclay."

The STORY of SUE

by Margery Hale
© 1937 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"If you have a chance to drop in and see Grace before she leaves, will you do it, Sue?" Jimmy asked.

"I'll go tonight. You'll be home, won't you? Good! When does Grace go?"

Jimmy admitted that he didn't know exactly. The next day, he thought.

Sue jumped from stone to stone, across the brook, and Jimmy walked with her down the path that bordered the bank, until it reached the cobbled walk that led to the painted gate by Jack and Sue's house.

"Can't you come in?" Sue asked. "Thanks, but I must hurry. My car's parked near here. I'll see you tonight."

Entering the fire-lighted living room, which was warm and comfortable, Sue told herself that Jimmy had asked her to call on Grace that evening merely because he didn't want to be alone with her. Men hated scenes, and he was afraid that maybe Grace would make one. A large box on the table attracted her attention. A florist's box. Evidently Ruth was at home and had brought it in.

Sue picked it up, found her name, and opened it. Jack had wired flowers to her. Violets, sweet and very big and very purple, were clustered in the roundness of the cool green box. Sue buried her face in their fragrance. She was glad that Jack sent flowers, even when they were economizing on necessities. Who cared that they needed some more small rugs for the bedrooms? There would be rugs in the world when they were 70 and 80. But violets might not be so sweet then.

Sue started to hum under her breath as she arranged the flowers in a low pewter bowl. Ruth came down the stairs, eyes a little misty with sleep. She sat down by the fire and smiled.

"I came home from school and fell asleep, and somehow or other, all of a sudden all of the worry and everything I've been feeling had gone. It's funny. When I wakened I wasn't scared any more."

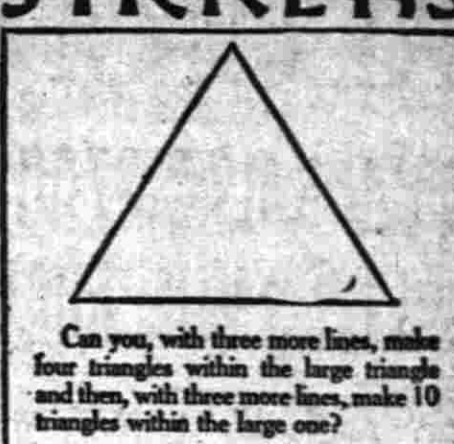

They went into the kitchen, made a fruit salad, fixed a rarebit on toast, and put on the percolator. Ruth was going to stay at home and read, she said. So after a while Sue put on a heavy tan camel's hair coat, and a small tan beret, and got the car out of the garage. She let the car go fast down the road. She knew that she shouldn't speed, but it really didn't matter. At the edge of the town she slowed down her. Some sudden whimsy made her take the street that led past her own home. The long windows were shining softly with light. She slowed down, lowered the window, and leaned over the door. She could see her father sitting in his easy chair, reading the paper. She could see her mother sitting nearby, talking to someone. She leaned forward a little more. Yes, it was Corinne to whom she was speaking. Sarah was curled up in a corner davenport. Harry entered the room while she was watching. She felt a tight lump in her throat. She wanted to park the car, go running up the walk, and join the group. But she couldn't. Corinne was curled up in a corner davenport. Instead, Sue started the engine and went down the street to Grace and Jimmy Hayden's.

Grace came to the door. She was wearing a green flitting green turban and a close traveling dress. Her hair was high and her eyes were a little hard and a little hurt. "Good! Now I won't have to take a taxi! You'll take me to the train. Sue. Won't you?" she said. "Where's Jimmy?" Sue asked.
